

Japan Swings 60,000 Troops Across North China Plains

Equipped With Many Tanks and Planes, Nipponese Push Toward Central Front, Threatening Foe's Vital Kaifeng and Lunghai Railway.

CHENGCHOW, Honan Province, China, Feb. 15.—(Tuesday.)—The American Southern Baptist mission here was bombed three times yesterday and four Chinese patients were injured by shrapnel.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.—(Tuesday.)—(P)—A Japanese army of 60,000 men, buttressed by hundreds of tanks and planes, has surged down across the plains of North China and is threatening to bottle up 400,000 Chinese on the central front.

In modern war style but over the same rolling terrain, the Japanese were emulating the thirteenth century conquest by the Mongol Emperor, Kubla Khan. Instead of the great Khan's yak tail banner the conquerors carried the Rising Sun flag.

The spearhead of this swiftly moving mobile column was less than 20 miles, including the broad Yellow river, between it and Kaifeng, Honan provincial capital near the western end of China's vital central front corridor.

Capture of Kaifeng would choke off the vital Lunghai railway, practically the only means of exit for the legions of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek now deployed along the railway for 300 miles eastward to the Yellow sea.

Reports today from the northern Honan sector told of the 60,000 Japanese slogging knee-deep through mud and snow in the overland thrust toward the Yellow river.

Japanese said this and other offensives from both the north and south against the Lunghai railway were continuing with terrific losses to the Chinese, despite rain and snow which fought on the side of the defenders.

Virginia Overshiner Weds Again! Says 'I Do' Ninth Time at Elkton

Husband, Charles R. Bromley, Listed as Atlanta Engineer.

A Georgia beauty kept a date with Cupid yesterday for the ninth time.

Virginia Overshiner, who launched her varied matrimonial career in Atlanta when she was a beauty contest winner at 16, is now Mrs. Charles R. Bromley, the marriage having been performed at Elkton, the "Gretna Green" of Maryland.

Word from Elkton listed the marrying Atlanta as residing here at 1145 Peachtree street, but investigation disclosed that the house at that number is listed as vacant. Bromley, according to the Maryland information, is an engineer, of 915 Peachtree street, but that number was not listed in the city directory.

The bride gave her age as 30 and the bridegroom that of 35. Not later than last November the Georgia contest winner announced that she was through with marriage and disclosed plans of a book she planned to write titled "Seven and Out."

"The first part of the title refers to my seven marriages. The 'out' means 'I'm through,'" she is quoted to have said. Plans for the book, however, are not known.

Asa Patterson, of Atlanta, was husband No. 1. The others were Ivan Stark, of Chicago, No. 2; "The Secret Husband," the name of whom she never revealed, was No. 3; Lord Charles Seegar, of London, No. 4; Albert Gilbert, of New York, No. 5; R. J. Kahn, nephew of Otto Kahn, of New York, No. 6; Arthur Cogswell, No. 7; Dick Raymond, orchestra leader, No. 8.

She divorced Raymond in 1937 in Peoria, Ill. It was while on a visit here in 1936, Mrs. Bromley announced she was on her way to New York to remarry her seventh husband, Cogswell, whom she had divorced in Mexico. There is no record of her remarriage.

Big 'Bargain Day' Promised Today In Constitution's School of Bridge

What promises to be the biggest "bargain day" in The Atlanta Constitution's bridge series, is announced in three special classes for today in the Biltmore hotel.

Harold Sharpsteen, noted Cubertson system authority, promises to teach anyone attending today's classes how to play an acceptable game of contract in a single lesson.

This unusual declaration, Mr. Sharpsteen says, may be regarded as a sweeping invitation by all Atlanta Constitution readers to attend any one of today's three classes. He is pointing particularly toward the busy businessman and woman, the housewife with but limited time for bridge studies, auction bridge players, and all seasoned contract players as well.

Today's lesson feature will be presented at 10:30 o'clock this morning, 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and again at 8 o'clock tonight at the Biltmore.

"Today's special lessons will be distinctly apart from the regular classes in The Constitution course," Mr. Sharpsteen announces. Classes will be held as usual tomorrow and Friday for Constitution bridge school members.

"So many times when a fourth is needed to complete a table of bridge, inexperienced players are reluctant to enter the game. Today's short-cut lesson will outline for experienced players an easy method by which to teach their friends to play in just a few minutes."

"Atlanta will probably wake up tomorrow morning to find scores of self-appointed bridge teachers eager to try out this short-cut system on husbands, wives, neighbors and friends. Even so, the purpose of today's lessons will be served."

Constitution bridge school coupons, entitling holders to admission for 35 cents, will be accepted at any class today.

"Tan-Tan, 12-6-15" may sound like a college football signal, but the Constitution bridge expert promises to explain today how by simple application of this formula anyone will be able to play contract bridge without offering apologies for their game.

LUDWIG LEWISOHN SPEAKS HERE TODAY

Author Will Lecture on 'Faith of Israel.'

Ludwig Lewisoohn, author of many novels and nationally known Jewish lecturer, will speak at 8 o'clock tonight before the Ahavath Achim congregation on "The Faith of Israel: Where Does It Stand Today?"

During the last three years, Mr. Lewisoohn has lectured in American cities from coast to coast, concerning himself more with the spiritual upheavals than with the economic difficulties of life. His novels, noted for their vision, have been translated into many foreign languages.

The latest novel he has written is "Trumpet of Jubilee," dealing with the fate of humanity in the world today. In it, he looks realistically on modern problems and trends.

FIRE STATION BIDS SOUGHT BY COUNTY

Lakewood, Center Hill Construction Expected.

FIFTH CANDIDATE IN SHERIFF'S RACE

Entry List for Special Election Closed; Citizens To Vote March 2.

Entry list for the special Fulton sheriff's election closed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon shortly after a fifth candidate, Grover Clark, had qualified with the county ordinary.

Clark, who is a retail grocer of 1529 Howell Mill road, was a candidate in the special election November 9 to name a successor to the late County Commissioner Edwin F. Johnson in which Commissioner Troy G. Chastain was elected.

Previously qualified for the election which will be held March 2, are the following: J. D. Bazemore, acting sheriff; J. C. Aldredge, Southern Railway conductor; T. O. Sturdivant, former Atlanta police chief, and H. J. Foster, a candy salesman.

The election will be held on the same day as the Democratic primary to nominate three commissioners and three judges of the municipal court. Qualifying deadline for these offices closed January 31.

Voters will also name their preference between an early or late primary date for future elections. The late primary idea has been endorsed by numerous civic and voters' organizations on grounds an early date does not bring out a representative number of voters.

Clark's statement of his platform follows:

If elected: I will reduce my salary to $4,000 a year. I will not seek a third term. I will not permit political handshaking deputies to infect courthouse corridors. I will select my deputies by civic service under regulations similar to those used by state highway patrol. If legal, I will serve copy of charges to known citizens accused of minor law infractions, thus discouraging professional bondsmen. If legal, I will serve copy of charges and subpoenas by return card, registered mail. I will not humiliate first offender suspects by finger printing and throwing into lock-up with boasting professional criminals. If I cannot practically eradicate the last vestige of semi-open bootlegging and the bug racket which has been permitted to take root and prosper here, I cannot materially reduce open immoral and vice conditions.

If I make this county a more safe and cleaner place in which to live, rear and educate children for good citizens of tomorrow, I will resign within 30 days.

MONOPOLIES BREED REVOLUTION--BORAH

People Being Split Into Two Classes, Idahoan Tells Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(P)—Monopolies are breeding in this country a condition which leads to revolution, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, told the senate today.

In a speech which may be followed in the next two or three weeks by a presidential message on the same subject, the "Lion of Idaho" questioned whether the new farm and housing bills would do any good unless congress acted at this session against private price-fixing.

"We find that the food supply of this country is under the control of a few corporations, that these corporations fix the prices and that those prices are so fixed as to assure the corporation of a constantly increasing profit in this time of recession," he declared.

Eighty per cent of the building materials needed for home construction also are controlled by a few corporations, Borah said.

He charged that monopoly was splitting the people into two classes—"the poverty-stricken and the multi-millionaire."

LAST TRIBUTE PAID TO MRS. ALEXANDER

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia M. Alexander, 55, who died yesterday at her home, 4111 St. Charles place, N. E., following a long illness, were held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence, with Dr. David Marx officiating. Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

A native of Montgomery, Ala., Mrs. Alexander was principal of a school there when she married Cecil A. Alexander, Atlanta hardware merchant. After her marriage she continued her interest in teaching and was well known in local educational circles.

GEORGIANS URGED BY JUDGE FORTSON TO DEVELOP STATE

Jurist Sees Dawn of Better Days in Citizenship Institute Address.

Economic and political changes of Georgia's immediate past seem to indicate that Georgians are about to witness the dawning of a better day, Judge Blanton Fortson, of Athens, told the Institute of Citizenship at Emory University last night.

He said: "If our history teaches us nothing else it certainly indicates that it is to be profitably appreciated by the development of our state we must develop it ourselves for ourselves; and that Georgia will never regain its former relative standing nor Georgians be independent in thought or action under a system of absentee ownership."

Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory, was chairman of the opening session of the institute. Program of the institute will continue today with two panel discussions at Emory University and an evening address by Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, at Agnes Scott College.

At 10 o'clock this morning, in Glenn Memorial auditorium, Dean J. Thomas Askew, of Armstrong Junior College, Savannah, will speak on "The Present Georgia Scene." This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Dr. Howard W. Odum, of the University of North Carolina, will lead a forum on "Georgia in 1960."

Participating in the two discussions will be Herman Hankin, of The Constitution; Harry Strozier, Macon; Wright Bryan, Atlanta Journal; Kendall Weisiger, Atlanta; Orville A. Park, Macon; M. S. Culp, Emory University; James Pope, Atlanta Journal; Tarleton Collier, Atlanta Georgian; Representative Robert Elliott, Columbus, and Philip Welton, Atlanta. Tonight in Bucher Scott gymnasium, Agnes Scott, at 8 o'clock, the institute will sponsor with the Phi Beta Kappa chapters of Georgia a talk by Dr. Gaines on "The Modern Significance of Liberal Arts Education."

Dr. Gaines will be introduced by Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott. Following the address, Dr. Philip Davidson, head of the Agnes Scott Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, will announce the Agnes Scott seniors who have been elected members of the honorary scholastic fraternity. The institute will continue to hold sessions on the campuses of Emory, Agnes Scott and Georgia Tech, co-sponsors, through Thursday.

GASON CALLAWAY RENAMED REGENT

Marion Smith, of Atlanta, a Rivers appointee. Governor Rivers conferred with Chairman Smith before reappointing Mr. Callaway yesterday.

Meanwhile Governor Rivers and other officials and attaches of the capitol continued their work of cleaning up the last details of the special session which ended Saturday night.

The Governor signed a number of bills, including one increasing the salaries of two members of the labor board, Arlie D. Tucker and Harry Munroe. He also affixed his signature to a bill putting Commissioners Jim L. Gillis and Herman H. Watson on a salary basis. In the future they are to receive $5,000 a year. Formerly they were paid $10 a day and expenses.

Boost Salaries. The labor commissioners were increased from $4,000 to $5,000 a year.

The staffs of Secretary John W. Hammond, of the senate, and Clerk Joe Boone, of the house, worked on numerous bills which will be ready for the Governor when he returns to the capitol tomorrow after a visit to Tattnell prison today.

Meanwhile, former Governor Talmadge said that seven-eighths of the people he found at the capitol when he became Governor were permitted to remain. He said he removed only the "parasites."

Honoring Platform. Governor Rivers had defended the removal of Talmadge appointments by saying their ouster had been called for in the platform of the 1936 Democratic convention at Macon.

The removal of the Talmadge appointees on the board of regents leaves only three men named to high office by the former Governor still at the capitol. They are State Treasurer George B. Hamilton, Public Service Commissioner and P. Wilhoit and Justice John H. Hutcheson, of the supreme court. All have been re-elected since their appointment and Hamilton, who later was forced out by Talmadge, was re-elected a second time.

Mr. Callaway first was named to board of regents by Governor Russell. He was reappointed by Talmadge.

Southern Bridge Title Captured by Atlantans

Whitner Cary and Mrs. Arline Phelan, Atlanta bridge team, won the mixed pair play in the fifth annual Southern bridge tournament, which ended yesterday in Birmingham. Runners-up were Mrs. L. B. Buchanan, of Memphis, playing with Gilbert Miller, of Birmingham. Other titlists were Jason Floyd and E. A. Knight, of Jackson, Miss., open pair, with Martin Parks and Ed Blackburn, of Tampa, second. Winners in knockout rounds were Allen McKee and Dudley Ball, Memphis, with F. R. Richmond and J. C. Erick, Birmingham, second.

Butler Says 'Garbage Blockade' Could Circumvent U. S. Invasion

Former Marine Chief As-asserts Guns Not Needed To Defend Country.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 14.—(AP) Major General Smedley D. Butler, U. S. marine corps, retired, proposed here today a "garbage blockade" to circumvent an armed invasion of the United States.

In an interview Butler declared it would take "all the ships in the world to bring a million men and supplies for an invasion of this country."

"They'd need piers to land at and harbors to enter," he said. "Even if we hadn't a gun to defend ourselves with, we could close any harbor in the country to any fleet."

"New York city's garbage for a single day, if dumped into Amro Channel, would block the harbor tighter than a clam."

ITALIAN AIRPLANE MISSING AT SEA

14 Feared Lost in Flight From Cadiz to Ostia.

ROME, Feb. 14.—(UP)—Fear for the lives of 14 persons, including four crew members, increased tonight after a commercial hydroplane was reported missing on a flight from Cadiz, Spain, to Ostia.

At 10:30 p. m. the hydroplane had not been reported for 24 hours and military hydroplanes and Italian steamers were mobilized in a search of the waters south of Sardinia.

The missing hydroplane belonged to the Littoria Air Line Company and was piloted by Bruno Bacula, one of Italy's best known commercial pilots.

Grayson first was attached to the White House medical staff in 1907, when Theodore Roosevelt was President and Grayson a lieutenant in the navy's medical corps. Backed by the strong recommendation of Roosevelt, Grayson was kept on by President Taft and Wilson found him at the White House when he took office.

Grayson was born in Culpepper county, Virginia, October 11, 1878, the son of a country doctor. He was orphaned in boyhood and although the financial way thereafter was not smooth, he managed to take a pre-medical course at William and Mary College in Virginia, winning a Phi Beta Kappa key.

He was married May 24, 1916, to Alice Gertrude Gordon, of Washington.

Germany's Understanding With Austria Still in Air

Path To Complete Agreement Still Striven With Stumbling Blocks; Schuschnigg Confers in Vienna With Cabinet and President Miklas.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—(P)—The path to a complete understanding between Germany and Austria and the Anglo-German settlement that depends on it still is strewn with potential stumbling blocks.

While the conference Saturday between Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Chancellor Schuschnigg served to clear the atmosphere, it marked only the beginning and by no means the end of negotiations.

In fact, Schuschnigg took away with him several questions, the nature of which were not disclosed, which he promised to answer after meeting the Austrian cabinet.

(In Vienna Schuschnigg was said to have brought three proposals to put before President Wilhelm Miklas for his selection. A hitch in the settlement was reported to have developed as the Chancellor discussed his interview with Hitler in hours-long conferences with the President and cabinet.

(Miklas was said to be withholding his approval because he objected to Hitler's suggestion a Nazi sympathizer be made minister of the interior with full control of police.)

Britain long has wanted assurances German efforts to Nazify Austria would not imperil the whole European peace structure.

Schuschnigg and Hitler talked alone in Hitler's mountain home at Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, before their foreign secretaries were called in.

AUSTRIANS MAY JOIN ROME CONFERENCES

VIENNA, Feb. 14.—(P)—A high government source tonight said Chancellor Schuschnigg would follow up his Saturday conference with Adolf Hitler by joining Hitler's April meeting with Premier Mussolini in Rome.

The same source said readjustment of Austro-German relations was only one object of Hitler's recent talk with the Austrian Chancellor.

The broader purpose of formation of a new association of middle European states for promotion of regional economic and political co-operation was ascribed to the meeting which aroused the attention of all Europe.

Free for Two Years, Man Is Sentenced

After two years' freedom to attend his invalid wife, George W. St. John, of Stockbridge, convicted distiller, was sentenced in United States district court by Judge E. Marvin Underwood to serve two years and pay a $100 fine.

St. John was arrested in January, 1935, on charges of illegally operating stills and was convicted but sentence was postponed several times because of his wife's ill health. Judge Underwood yesterday refused to grant further delay.

The court also withdrew probation of J. C. Hindman, of Polk county, who was arrested last week on charges of violating the internal revenue laws.

INCREASE SHOWN IN GEORGIA EXPORTS

1937 Report From Customs Shows Advance of $3,000,000 Over 1936.

Exports from the Georgia customs district showed "marked increases" during last December and for the year 1937, W. H. Schroder, district manager of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, announced yesterday.

For the 12-month period, exports totaled $29,717,311 as compared with $26,533,574 for 1936. Exports during last December were $2,103,643, which compares with $1,719,242 for the same period the preceding year.

Imports for the district were valued at $1,121,572 against $928,729 for December, 1936, and for as against $14,318,464 for the corresponding 12-month period, $16,451,039 responding period of 1936.

Exports of vegetable products inedible, except fibers and wood, ranked first with a valuation of $866,568. The principal item in this group was naval stores valued at $817,144. Textile fibers and manufactures were reported next in rank with a valuation of $678,715, the principal item being cotton and linters.

Other exports in order of importance were: metals and manufactured products, except machinery and vehicles, $344,853; wood and paper, $182,110; animals and animal products, $32,301; vegetable food products and beverages, $17,851; nonmetallic minerals, $865 and miscellaneous, $380.

Leading imports were chemicals and related products, $751,295; textile fibers and manufactures, $249,698; wood and paper, $45,873; and vegetable food products and beverages, $14,782.

OFFICER SPEAKS ON U. S. DEFENSE

Radio Audience Hears McWhorter in Program.

Pointing out the need for an adequate national defense as the best insurance for peace, Lieutenant Colonel Fonville McWhorter, executive officer of the 325th infantry reserve, delivered one of the keynote radio speeches Monday night in the National Defense Week program.

The state-wide Defense Week program, sponsored by the Georgia Reserve Officers' Association and under the direction of Major Willis M. Everett Jr., of Atlanta, will continue through February 22. Lieutenant Colonel Louis H. Falligant, executive officer at Fort McPherson, will address the Atlanta Civitan Club at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday on National Defense Week.

Aubrey Milam will speak to the Atlanta Advertising Club Wednesday while Major General George Van Horn Moseley, fourth corps area commander, and other high ranking officers, will speak during the week.

BENJAMIN BRADLEY FACES NEW TRIAL

State Will Press Charges Here March 14.

Benjamin R. Bradley, president of the American Bond & Share Company, who is now serving a term in federal prison for mail fraud, will get a brief respite from penal routine next month.

Bradley will be tried March 14 in Fulton superior court, under an order signed yesterday by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, on six indictments alleging frauds in connection with the bond firm dealings. Three indictments charge embezzlement, the others larceny after trust.

Bradley was sentenced in United States district court last year, during investigation of his company. He must serve until 1940.

CASE OF SMALLPOX STARTS VACCINATION

Vaccination of all Emory University students and employees started yesterday within an hour after the illness of an Emory theology student was diagnosed as smallpox.

Harold Fink, of Roanoke, Va., the student afflicted, was removed to the contagious disease ward of Grady hospital and vaccination of everyone on the campus was ordered by the DeKalb county board of health as a precautionary measure.

Robert Carpenter Acts As Mayor First Time

Alderman Robert Carpenter reigned as Atlanta's chief executive yesterday in the absence of Mayor Hartsfield.

Serving for the first time since his election as mayor pro tem, Alderman Carpenter confined his official duties principally to dictating letters.

Mayor Hartsfield, who left Sunday for a trip to Florida, will return to Atlanta today.

DICTATORSHIP TEST IS FACED BY CAROL

Political Leaders Seek To Overthrow Cabinet of Premier Cristea.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 14.—(UP)—King Carol II of Rumania tonight faced the alternative of merciless methods or surrender of his four-day-old dictatorship as two of the nation's most powerful political leaders sought to overthrow the cabinet of Premier Miron Cristea.

There were reports, denied officially, that the Premier had resigned under fire and observers believed Carol's choice—either an iron-fisted dictatorship or return to party and parliamentary government—might be forced within the next 48 hours.

Opposing the King, despite his abolition of freedom of the press that wiped all political news from newspapers and his suppression of political parties, were Dr. Julius Maniu and Corneliu Zelea Codreanu.

Maniu is leader of the National Peasant party, second strongest in Rumania, and as bitter in his enmity toward the new royal dictatorship as he was against the near-Fascist regime of Octavian Goga, whose collapse was forced by Carol last Friday.

ENTERS ALABAMA RACE. TALLADEGA, Ala., Feb. 15.—(AP)—D. Hardy Riddle, president pro tem, of the Alabama senate and superintendent of the state schools for the deaf and blind, today announced his candidacy for Governor.

Peach Blossoms and Pretty Girl Bring Photo Tip Prize for Week

Mrs. J. C. McDonald, College Park, Gets First Award of $5 for Her Suggestion; Two Others Receive Dollar Each.

Balmy spring breezes wafted an extra $5 bill into the hands of a College Park woman for the best Photo Tip of last week.

Mrs. J. C. McDonald, of 314 East Walker avenue, won the top prize with her tip about a peach tree in bloom in her back yard.

The picture of the tree, in which Mrs. McDonald's attractive daughter, Ethel McDonald, was seen peering from the blossoms, made a splendid feature picture for page one, and was therefore adjudged the week's prize-winning Photo Tip.

Two others won $1 prizes for their Photo Tips.

Mrs. W. Guy Hudson, of 401 Oakdale road, Decatur, was awarded a prize for her Photo Tip about the "4-H" girls.

These young women, including

Mrs. Hudson's daughters, Harriett and Margaret, all underwent appendicitis operations at Emory University hospital within a few days of each other. Their last names began with "H," and they all were in the same room.

Besides the Misses Hudson, the other girls were Ernestine Hardeman and Mary Hutcheson.

Another prize-winner was Mrs. E. N. Young, of 77 Douglas street, S. E., who Photo Tipped about her infant daughter, Barbara Ann, who was born with two lower teeth. The photograph of the baby made an appealing, human-interest picture.

STORM PREVENTS ICE FLOE RESCUE

Craft Dismantled by Soviet Party on Icebreaker.

MOSCOW, Feb. 14.—(P)—Fliers aboard the ice breaker Taimyr were forced by an arctic storm tonight to abandon an aerial attempt to rescue four Russian scientists on a drifting ice floe off Greenland.

Two planes which had been assembled for the flight were dismantled and placed back on the Taimyr when a strong southwest wind blew up in the afternoon, shifting the ice on which the makeshift flying field was situated.

The rescuers, previously brought to a standstill by the heavy ice, radioed they would attempt to push forward nearer the four scientists, who were about 20 miles away.

Santa Fe

AMERICA'S LARGEST FLEET OF ULTRA-MODERN STREAMLINED TRAINS

Here is the outstanding western travel announcement of many years!

For your pleasure on 1938 California and Southwestern journeys, Santa Fe presents 13 magnificent new trains, streamlined in stainless steel!

This fleet embodies the very latest in rail travel comfort, beauty and speed. It includes by far the largest array of ultra-modern passenger equipment on any American railroad. It adds new dash and joy to economy travel and deluxe travel alike. IT WILL ALL BE READY TO FIT INTO YOUR SPRING AND SUMMER PLANS.

2 Super Chiefs

Another superb streamlined Super Chief enters regular service FEBRUARY 22nd—thus doubling the tremendously popular service on this extra fare and ONLY SOLID-PULLMAN 39 1/4-hour train between Chicago and California. Twice-weekly departures from Chicago will be Tuesday and Saturday evenings at 7:15 pm; from Los Angeles Tuesday and Friday evenings at 8:00 pm.

6 New Chiefs

It was only fitting that the famous solid-Pullman extra-fare Chief also should go streamlined in this great Santa Fe year. Hence our pleasure in announcing delivery of new equipment, beautiful and modern as that on the Super Chief, sufficient to streamline, in stainless steel, all six of the trains required for this finest and many-hours-fastest of all California DAILY service!

2 El Capitans

Now for El Capitán! Absolutely unique in the economy travel field—is this gleaming new Santa Fe twice-a-week silver flash to and from California, streamlined in stainless steel behind its Diesel-electric locomotives!

Here is the only transcontinental train in America entirely for chair-car passengers. Believe it or not, it will be as fast as the Super Chief—only 39 1/4 hours between Chicago and Los Angeles! It will combine low fares and low-cost meals with trim beauty and the latest comforts—including deeply cushioned reclining chairs, carpeted aisles, broad windows, fine lighting, and attractive dressing rooms. It will save you days and dollars.

El Capitán will leave Chicago Tuesdays and Saturdays at 5:45 pm—ahead of the Super Chief. All seats are numbered and reserved. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, IS THE FIRST REGULAR DEPARTURE FROM CHICAGO. Want to make that memorable FIRST TRIP with us?

If you're economy minded, choose between this new El Capitán, or the already-famous daily Scout—there IS service!

1 Chicagoan 1 Kansas Cityan

Still they come! ON OR ABOUT APRIL 15th, Chicago and Kansas City will have their own gay, swift Santa Fe streamliners. There'll be two of them—of seven stainless steel cars each, Diesel-electric drawn, and on 7 1/2-hour schedules.

On these trains, beauty and roomy comfort will feature the chair cars, with their rotating reclining seats; the combination lounges, parlor observation cars and Fred Harvey diners.

The westbound streamliner, named the Kansas Cityan, will leave Chicago 9:00 am, arrive 4:30 pm. The eastbound train, The Chicagoan, will leave Kansas City 2:10 pm, arrive 9:35 pm. Finer, faster Chicago-Kansas City service—more convenient connections at either end!

1 San Diegan

Now back to California, where, ON OR ABOUT MARCH 15th, the shimmering new six-car, stainless steel SAN DIEGAN is to link Los Angeles and San Diego more closely.

The San Diegan will make two round trips daily, on a 2 1/2-hour schedule, between these great Santa Fe terminal cities. Beautiful and ultra-modern, with fine Fred Harvey meals in its cheery lunch-tavern car, the San Diegan will bring new pleasure and speed to inter-city travel, and afford splendid connections with Santa Fe transcontinental trains in and out of Los Angeles.

Finer, Fuller Service for These Long-Established Favorites, Too

Long-established favorites have not been overlooked during the planning and building of new units for Santa Fe's big fleet of trains. For instance:

Streamlining of the extra-fare Chief enables us to give all the best of the Chief's fine conventional standard equipment to the no-extra-fare solid-Pullman CALIFORNIA LIMITED, beloved of countless conservative Santa Fe patrons for 45 years. The California Limited now accepts first-class passengers at and between all regularly scheduled stops, for the convenience of its Southwestern friends. Beginning February 20th, there also will be a through Pullman, from Chicago, via the Grand Canyon.

Chair-car passengers on THE DAILY SCOUT, tremendously popular California economy train, will find beautiful new stainless steel coaches. Tourist-sleeper travelers will appreciate the finely remodeled standard Pullmans. And to all Scout patrons we promise every comfort and service we can put into this fine dollar-saving type of travel.

THIS IS IMPORTANT, TOO. Part of this great program has involved improvement of roadbed, laying of heavier steel, cutting of grades and straightening of curves. You who ride with us will enjoy the smooth, quiet sweep of your train. Last, but not least, a NEW SANTA FE TIMETABLE, EFFECTIVE FEBRUARY 20, 1938, provides an exceptionally complete and convenient web of connecting service to and from all parts of the country.

It is our high aim, in this Santa Fe year, to render service that will bring us new friends, and bind our old friends more closely to us.

$400,000,000 MORE FOR LOANS IS SEEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—America's banks could gain up to $400,000,000 more a year to lend to their customers or invest in securities as a result of changes announced today in Washington, in the government's "gold sterilization" fund, Wall Street banking experts agreed.

At least $100,000,000 of money every three months in the form of gold coming here from abroad—assuming the big yellow stream holds to its levels of the past few years—could reach here and become deposits to be lent by American bankers under the announced modification.

BANKERS VIEW MOVE AS BEING ACADEMIC

Special to The Constitution
 NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The Wall Street Journal will make the following statement tomorrow morning regarding the Treasury's gold sterilization announcement today:

"Local bankers last night viewed the move of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to limit gold sterilization as being of more academic than practical importance to the general business and credit picture.

"One probable effect of the gold move which permits addition of $100,000,000 of gold each three months without sterilization (only amounts in excess of that figure being sterilized) is another spur to the government bond market.

"Government securities were strong yesterday in anticipation of some move that would add to member banks excess reserves.

"Another possible effect is some outward flow of gold from this country. Such a development would be based on interpretation of yesterday's move by foreigners as an indication that some more drastic inflationary step is in the offing. Local bankers do not believe such to be the case, but point out that views held abroad differ on this point.

Dollar Strong.

"Behavior of the foreign exchange market bore out this view. In Europe the dollar was strong early yesterday, but with the opening of the local exchange markets, rumors of an impending change in the gold policy circulated through the markets, and the dollar turned weak, and was reflected in steadily advancing quotations for foreign currencies which carried some major units into new high ground for the year.

"The rise in sterling and other exchanges was checked only by official intervention. The control was lifted, however, shortly before the announcement was made, and in the last few minutes of the market session the foreign exchange began to climb again. The official operations yesterday indi-

Constitution's Cooking School Expert Extols Meat Cutters' Virtues

A portion of the crowd of approximately 1,500 merchants and meat market dealers of Atlanta who gathered last night at a downtown hotel to hear P. A. Goesser, merchandising and meat expert, is shown. Mr. Goesser, connected with the National Livestock and Meat Board, extolled the virtues of careful meat cutters and explained better methods of selling the cuts as part of the preliminary to The Constitution's fifth Annual Cooking School. He told merchants and meat dealers that a successful meat salesman must be seven men in one—a buyer, a businessman, a display artist, a meat cutter, a home economist, a nutrition expert and a salesman. Comments on his unusual meat cuts were heard on all sides after the program, in which he illustrated his lecture by cutting choice halves and quarters furnished by Atlanta wholesalers. The two things necessary for success in any meat market, he said, include a satisfied customer and a dealer with a fair profit.

CRAIGAVON WINS

Unionists Get 39 Seats, Opposition Only 13.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Unionist party of Viscount Craigavon, prime minister of Northern Ireland, scored an emphatic victory in the elections February 9, it was revealed today when final returns gave four Unionists the Queens University seats.

The Unionists' victory gave the government 39 seats in parliament to the combined opposition's total of 13 in the completed Ulster vote. (The election was called by Lord Craigavon on the issue of union with Ireland, which he opposed. His party takes its name from advocacy of continued union with Great Britain.)

NOE LEAVES HOSPITAL, RETURNS TO DEANERY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 14.—(AP) The Rev. Israel Harding Noe late today left the hospital to which he has been confined since the conclusion of a 22-day fast January 30 and returned to the deanery of St. Mary's Episcopal cathedral.

His appearance was greatly different from that of 22 days ago, when he was rushed to the hospital for forced feeding. Today he weighed close to 140 pounds, and his face, once emaciated, was filled out noticeably. He weighed less than 100 pounds when he entered the hospital.

FACTS VS. IDEALISM

The naval building program outlined by Congressman Carl Vinson, of Georgia, chairman of the house naval affairs committee and author of the pending $800,000,000 bill to strengthen national defense, represents a realization of world facts, as opposed to that type of idealism which insists on seeing things as we would like them to be, rather than as they are.

It should be recognized as incontrovertible fact that if the United States is to remain aloof from all other nations in its international policies, if isolation is to be the goal, then the United States must be prepared to defend herself against any attack from the outside.

If this nation is determined not to cooperate with other nations of similar views, then America cannot expect any friendly aid in the event of an emergency peril against her own shores. Which by the simplest of logic, means that this country must maintain a defensive fleet large enough and powerful enough to make her extended coastline impregnable at all points. In the words of Congressman Vinson, a "hemisphere fleet."

Too often, in public thinking on this side of the Atlantic, the wish is father to the belief. Altruistic efforts to control war practices by resolution fail to take into account the different modes of thought of other peoples. They fail to understand that a fighting nation, intent upon gaining the objectives set for its armed forces, will pay little heed to the condemnation, by an idealistic group in distant America, of actions which to them seem necessary.

Yet it is generally true that Americans who are first to condemn barbarities of modern warfare are the most insistent on this country remaining out of any agreements or alliances with other powers. They likewise are, usually, the ones who cry loudest for disarmament and insist that weakness of defense is the road to peace.

They forget that it is useless to propose restrictions on the conduct of others unless the proposer is strong enough, and willing, to enforce those restrictions.

America can never, while she holds to the governmental ideals upon which the nation was founded, be an aggressor nation. Regardless of how strong her armed strength may become, the people of this country will never permit that strength to be employed for any cause save defense.

Yet, if America is to remain safe, there must be defensive arms strong enough to keep her territory inviolate from the heel of the invader. A "hemisphere fleet" to protect both coast lines is the minimum force that the United States must have in a world of turmoil and spreading faith in armed might.

THE HERTY FOUNDATION

In all the accounts of the accomplishments of the special session of the general assembly of Georgia far less emphasis has been given to one of its enactments than the importance of that measure deserves.

Provision for funds for the continuance of the work of Dr. Charles H. Herty in his chemical laboratory at Savannah have insured, for the present at least, a contribution to the progress of Georgia and the southeast that is far more outstanding in its potentialities than the average Georgian or southerner can appraise.

The creation of the Charles H. Herty Foundation, and the naming of a personnel of leading Georgians to administer its affairs, bring new recognition to a man who often has been referred to as the father of southern wood pulp.

Dr. Herty, in his laboratory at Savannah, which includes a miniature paper mill, has produced not only wood pulp but newsprint, rayon and many other commodities of inestimable value from the southern pine tree.

He has done more than any other man in the south, perhaps, to open its millions of acres of slash pine to pulp and paper manufacturers. He has helped to bring greater prosperity to the timber farmer, to increase timberland pay rolls, to create jobs in pulp and paper mills and generally to help speed the south to its new industrial destiny.

Southern business could profitably afford to endow Dr. Herty and his enterprise with resources far in excess of the legislature's appropriation.

WHISKY BARREL RULING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Here is a little story about the Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, the competing whisky distilling interests, the tough little barrel-makers lobby, and the Federal Alcohol Administration. It's a comic but effective illustration of the power politics which sometimes makes Washington resemble a steaming compost heap, nourishing national policies at haphazard, like mushrooms.

The story begins some time ago, when the Kentucky whisky-makers joined the barrel manufacturers in a raid on the Federal Alcohol Administration. The Kentucky distillers are effective raiders. Barkley, who is senator from their state, is a tremendous New Deal bigwig. Their Washington representative, Fred Lee, is the former general counsel of the old federal alcohol control administration, with many friends at court. And they have other highly important New Deal connections.

The barrel manufacturers are also effective raiders. The cooperative lobby, which has behind it solons from Arkansas and other barrel states, is celebrated for its tight organization and smart tactics. Indeed, when the FAA law was proposed, the cooperative lobby almost killed it—because of a provision forbidding the sale of whisky in barrels, intended to prevent barmen from purveying strange substitutes from casks bearing the labels of established distillers.

JEB STUARTS AMONG LOBBYISTS

The barrel-makers and the Kentucky distillers made a treaty to join in destroying the northern whisky-makers in Illinois and elsewhere. The northern rye whiskies are lighter, and, if they are not aged in old barrels, they taste like so much turpentine. The barrel-makers and Kentucky distillers therefore demanded a ruling from the FAA that no whisky could be labeled as "aged for four years" or any other lengths of time, unless it had been aged in brand-new casks. Thus, the barrel-makers would sell more barrels, and the Kentucky distillers would put their northern competitors at a fearful disadvantage.

The arguments of the northern distillers were exceedingly hard to be an independent agency, on the model of the ICC, and provided that it should become independent as soon as the President had appointed its ruling board of three administrators. In the interim, congress permitted it to be kept in the treasury. The President does not like independent agencies. He has never appointed a full board of administrators, and the FAA is still in the treasury, which sometimes needs favors from powerful legislators on matters other than alcohol.

The descent of the barrel-makers and Kentucky distillers was as successful as one of the best northward forays of the amazing Jeb Stuart. The FAA accepted the proposition of the allies, although, in making some whiskies, old barrels are actually preferred and command a premium in the market. A ruling was promulgated requiring the use of new casks for whiskies to be labeled as "aged."

NORTHERNERS TO THE ATTACK

The distillers of Illinois and other northern states woke up to find themselves all but threatened with ruin by the FAA ruling. Immediately they mobilized their forces, and demanded a hearing from the FAA. Although they too had friends in congress, their legislative help-meets were less powerful. For a long time, the FAA put off hearings. Finally, a hearing was granted, and the northern case was put before the FAA.

The arguments of the northern distillers were exceedingly hard to meet and the northerners intimated to the FAA that, unless the ruling was modified, they would make a public stink. Finally, the FAA decided to climb down. A modification was adopted, not yet publicly announced, but very reliably reported to be a permission to the northerners to label their whiskies as "stored for so many years in re-used barrels."

The modification does not represent a complete triumph for the northerners, but it is something. Moreover, certain important northern whisky-makers are planning to emphasize the "re-used barrel" note, using it in advertising to claim an extra mellowness from old casks. Therefore, the Kentucky men are far from pleased.

A SENATOR'S FRIENDS

In view of the state of mind of his state's distillers, it's exceedingly interesting that Senator Barkley recently paid Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., a long visit. The secretary is the ruler of the FAA, so long as the President refuses to let the FAA become independent.

Of course, both men would deny it, but it is said on the best authority that the object of the senator's visit was to protest the northern modification of the FAA's barrel ruling, and to demand its suppression. Indeed, it's understood that the interview between senator and secretary was on the excitable side, since Secretary Morgenthau took the stand that, in so complicated and richly political a problem, he preferred to accept the FAA decision without question.

The whole incident is not only entertaining; it's exceedingly significant in its relation to the forthcoming Kentucky senatorial primary. In Kentucky, the New Deal's prestige is completely at stake. If Senator Barkley is beaten for renomination by the budget-balancing, conservative Governor, A. B. "Happy" Chandler, the fact that Senator Barkley is an old-time and very eminent dry leader, the little incident seems to indicate that the senator is looking for help wherever he can get it.

The Theater Guild
Ired by Picture.

Succumbing to the urge for publicity, regardless of how obtained, promoters of a foreign language picture have, according to charges by the Theater Guild, been trying to tie up their picture with the current stage vehicle of Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne.

"The Theater Guild desires to make clear," says a statement just issued, "that the motion picture called 'The Gods at Play,' which recently has also been shown and advertised under the title 'Amphitryon' or 'Amphitryon 38' in which Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne are now appearing. The film is a motion picture of German production in the French language with English dialogue titles."

Which would appear to be both plain and emphatic.

When Life Crumbles.

What is the greatest tragedy that can befall a human being?

Let me nominate for this undesirable distinction the realization that all the effort of a worldly spent life has gone for nothing and the dreams that have upheld the spirit through many trying hours are, after all, nothing but dreams, unfulfilled and unfulfillable.

I am thinking, particularly, of those sad figures, the aging men who have given everything they possess in effort and ability to the world, only to find that their children and who see, when it is too late, those children sink into dishonor and bring disgrace upon themselves and all who love them.

There can be, in my imagination, no earthly tragedy more poignant, no heart sickness more complete.

Those Important Intangible Things.

It is not the material buildings of a man's life that count so much, either in the acquisition or the loss. Possessions are, at best, but a convenience and, at too frequent worst, a responsibility and source of trouble.

It is those more real, though unseen things, to which a man gives the blood of his heart in the creation of his building, that count. The things of the spirit and the Mussolini Ready For a Switch?

NEW YORK.—There are indications that Signor Mussolini is about to make a complete volte-face in the orientation of his foreign policy. In his country, where nothing is ever published without the government's consent, the newspapers have of late published some serious criticism of Hitler's racial and religious policies as being detrimental to the Reich's unity and military efficiency. And, reversely, the German press, no less a mere mouthpiece of Dr. Goebbels' ministry of propaganda, is making Mussolini over the coals for his denationalization policy of the Austro-German minority in the Tyrol. The Tyrol was annexed by Italy after the war from Austria. It is a purely German country and has been so since the days of the Caesars. Since the Italians are the masters there, they have closed the German schools, changed the names of towns and all individuals, and turned the statue of the great regional poet Von der Vogelweide around so that he no longer faces in the direction of Germany, but towards Rome. The German language when I was there was only spoken in whispers.

The German papers let go a blast the other day saying that the German minority was oppressed by Mussolini and towards Rome. The German people not to listen to "lying Italian propaganda." The Tyrolers are our German brothers and our countrymen, and belong to the Reich.

That does not sound very much as if the Rome-Berlin axis is so stable a link. Still it is only a question. Mussolini has been warned. If ever Germany gobbles up Austria, she will be his next-door neighbor and as the successor of the Hapsburgs will most certainly start to agitate for the return of the Tyrol to the national German territory.

Vienna and Prague Grow Agitated.

It is the purge in the Reichswerk which has worked like a cold shower in Rome. Everybody understands that Hitler is on the eve of some sensational move. His new chief of staff is an expert in southeastern and southern strategy, that is to say, as Hindenburg knew the Russian front, so the new chief of staff knows, for having studied all his life, the Austrian and Czech front. There is grave disquietude about this in Vienna and in Prague.

And . . . in Rome, apparently. Mr. Anthony Eden let it be known in the house of commons the other day that negotiations are going on with Italy and he hinted that Italy is slowly coming to the British point of view with regard to Spain, that is to say: withdraw the foreign volunteers and let General Franco face the Loyalists alone "now that the danger of Bolshevism in Spain no longer exists."

Whatever danger of Bolshevism there ever existed in Spain, it certainly has not evaporated into thin air. In fact Communism is much stronger there now than at the outbreak of the civil war when Mussolini went to Franco's aid. But let that be as it may, Bolshevism was never the issue. Mussolini wants to get out of Spain. He would do so tomorrow if it could be accomplished with good grace. He is growing leery of his ally in Berlin. He wants to have his hands free. He is afraid that Hitler is planning a coup in Austria.

GOOD MORNING

RECOGNITION OF WORTH.

The man or woman of worth will be recognized, though sometimes it appears belated. I listened to a conversation the other day between two elderly gentlemen as they discussed the people they had known over a half century who had done something really worthwhile. Some of the persons referred to were yet unknown, but these men said they would be discovered for their true worth.

One of the men described is a country lawyer, living in a small Georgia town. He possesses wide knowledge of the law and keen mental powers by which he can quickly interpret a given situation in terms of the law, state and federal. Lawyers travel many miles to confer with this quiet country lawyer. He never makes a charge for such conferences. If they offer to pay him, they have to decide what it should be. Two prominent lawyers have been heard to say that every important case they had won in 10 years was due to the advice they got from this country lawyer who sat on his front porch and interpreted the law relating to their respective clients.

They described a "consulting" engineer who has no diploma from the schools and has never built a bridge, a viaduct, a dam, or a house, but his pre-eminent skill in envisaging the structure, its foundation and the superstructure, draws to his side widely known engineers and architects. He is said to have the rare skill of teaching practical engineers how to achieve difficult structures and designs, "and he always makes them do the drawing," said these friends, "while he stretches out in his hammock and gazes off into space."

Which reminds me of the story of John Fawcett, the English minister who refused the calls to large London churches, remaining in Emerton and Eversley, where he quietly served. He wrote one hymn that lives beyond the challenge of the centuries. "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." He appeared to be a provincial, but in fact he was a world citizen. True worth will be recognized. Let us, therefore, rejoice in work done squarely and in unwashed days. True worth was right when he said, "Still at the prophet's feet the nations sit."

The Plant Made Hardy by Exposure Is the One That Survives the Frost

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

In a certain small denominational college, where student control depends on the honor system, 21 pupils who appeared for one of the mid-term examinations were told by their instructor, a cynical and hard-boiled individual, that none would be permitted to leave the room or be given any of the usual opportunities to cheat. Nine remained to take the examination.

The honor system, like other idealistic schemes, is good only when used by good people—by people who know what honor is and prize it above personal gain. It fails, in the ordinary school, because it imposes a greater strain than the ordinary character can bear.

Few mature people could survive it. If 50 literate men, picked at random, were threatened with failure if they remained honest, but given assurance of success and protection against exposure and disgrace if they would cheat, how many would choose failure with honor? The first years of the late depression gave us the answer.

It isn't fair to blame the youngsters. The cards are stacked against them. Their college careers began in a tact conspiracy of hypocrisy.

It is assumed that they learned all they were supposed to learn in high school, and now are eager and able to acquire such further education as the college can provide.

That is true of some of them—about one in five, according to some of our best known educators. The other four cheated or bluffed their way through high school; have no hunger for more knowledge or else no capacity to absorb it; and can hope to get through college only by cheating or persuading their professors to cheat.

They are not in college to get an education, but to get a diploma, which will gratify their parents—who are making sacrifices to send them to school—and perhaps help them to get a job.

They have developed little strength of character, but the fault is not theirs. Character must be built by trial and effort, and they have been exposed to neither.

When mature men and women are given money, leisure, privileges, power and prestige they did not earn or deserve, few have the sanity and strength to survive undamaged.

And if it softens and rots and ruins the mature, it isn't likely to build strong character when used as a method of training children.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

The taste to desire a better standard of life, the talent to obtain it, the character to keep it . . .

Only with these three will we of the south improve our lot as a people. And only through education can the three be obtained. The thought is confirmed in a series of articles on Denmark which Ralph McGill, sports editor of The Atlanta Constitution, who is visiting Scandinavia under a Rosenwald Fellowship to study its institutions, has sent back to his paper. Like several other sports editors we know, Mr. McGill is a philosopher and a student and an all-round human being, and what he has to say about the enlightened little countries of the Scandinavian peninsula (the most progressive, prospering and civilized in the world) is worth reading. He reports, as others before him have reported, that the secret of Denmark's success is education, that it is the fore and aft of all they have accomplished, and that their education is not merely vocational training but a true "leading forth," an introduction to taste and character and the art and bases of life.

Well does Editor Willis M. Ball, of the Florida Times-Union, in commenting upon Ralph McGill's reports of what education like this has done for Denmark, find in the so-called folk schools of that little country "a lesson for all the south."

Everywhere, when he has asked how Denmark succeeds so well, how it has accomplished so much in social legislation that really works, how it supplies the world with more eggs and butter than any other nation even though it is only about one-third the size of an average southern state, how it has outlived its own disastrous war of 1864 so much faster than the south has outgrown its own of that date, Mr. McGill has been told that education is the answer. Education has come first. The Danes have not waited for prosperity to go in for education nor have they failed to make of their prosperity a signal for more education. It is for them both the beginning and the end of their economic lives.

Our friend Luther H. Hodges, of North Carolina, who worked his way through the University of North Carolina and began business life as an office boy in the cotton mills at Spray, has been made general manager of all the manufacturing operations of Marshall Field & Co. This means that he is to preside over some 29 mills operated by the company in North Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Rhode Island and several foreign countries. If Dick Whittington and the Horatio Alger boys can beat this, the story hasn't been written.

"We all agree," writes Fred M. Garrett, of Atlanta, "that it is buying power that makes the wheels go around in business, but in the next breath we say that labor costs must come down. It will take several more wages and hours bills and about 50 years to bring us a little nearer to this problem, but I do believe we are moving in the right direction." Maybe Mr. Garrett will agree that we have gone at least far enough in the right direction to have all intelligent people, no matter what their occupation or economic estate, understand that southern production will have to depend in the long run on southern consuming and that for the development of the south as a market the highest possible wages and farm prices must be paid. What remains to be agreed upon is how to obtain these highest wages and prices without destroying the operations upon which they depend.

O. O. McIntyre Dies at 53, After Feeling 'Little Rocky'

Death Cause Unknown; Rites Will Be Held at Gallipolis, Ohio.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—O. O. McIntyre, famous New York newspaperman—whose daily syndicated column, "New York Day by Day," made him a household word to millions of readers—died at 2 o'clock this morning at his Park Avenue apartment. He was 53.

Pending a medical examiner's report, the exact cause of death was not known. He had been ill only a few days.

The jaunty, trim-figured writer jotted down his last column in bed Saturday, read the Sunday papers and made notes for his next column, and then retired with the mild complaint that he felt "a little rocky."

O. O. MCINTYRE.

508 Newspapers.

"At the last, he seemed to become exhausted and just drifted off to sleep," said Charles B. Driscoll, long-time friend of McIntyre and editor of McNaught's Syndicate, which released the columnist's daily 800-word vignettes on the passing scene of New York to 508 newspapers from coast to coast and in Canada and Mexico.

Only his wife, the former Maybelle Hope Small, was at his bedside when he died. He had refused a doctor, saying he would soon be up and "feeling chirpy" again. Mrs. McIntyre, his devoted companion since their marriage in 1908, said his last words were:

"Turn your face to me so I can see you."

They would have celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary, also his fifty-fourth birthday, Friday.

Rites at Gallipolis.

Funeral services will be held at Gallipolis, Ohio, probably Thursday.

Thus the lantern-jawed cosmopolitan—the "small-town boy," as he frequently described himself, who rose to fame and riches as the epitome of the nation's idea of a "typical New Yorker"—will return at last in death to the never-forgotten Ohio river town of his boyhood.

Often, in nostalgic paragraphs in his column, he said he was going to leave the metropolitan scene forever and return to Gallipolis, to the fine home called "Gatewood" where he courted Maybelle and which he bought for her on their silver wedding anniversary.

He had upward of a million dollars when he died, accumulated from his $2,500-a-week syndicate salary and his magazine writings, and he remarked wistfully that it was time that he—sometimes styled "The Prophet of the Provincials"—returned to his hinterland town.

But New York held him, with its kaleidoscopic lure which forever fascinated him, and he confessed that he probably would never be able to tear himself away from the metropolitan glitter that still made him "gawk," as he put it, "like the veriest country bumpkin."

Accused of Romancing.

In late years, his critics accused him of depicting an O. Henryesque New York, a "Baghdad-on-the-Subway" scene, which no longer existed. But if the vivid characters of his column were something more imaginative than the flesh-and-blood reality of modern New York, still they satisfied a public variously estimated at from 7,000,000 to 15,000,000 daily readers who felt they knew New York as well as any Manhattanite through the intimacy of "O. O.'s" deft descriptions.

Christened Oscar Odd, pronounced "Ud," McIntyre started his "New York Day by Day" column in 1912 after 10 years of apprenticeship starting as a $5-a-week reporter on the Gallipolis Daily News.

He gave the column away at first sending out the smudgily-printed strip to editors far and near, until at last the Bridgeport, Conn., Post agreed to pay him the magnificent sum of $8 a year for it. Others followed until it became a paying proposition.

Question Box On the Bible

By W. L. PETTINGILL

THE PYRAMIDS.

Q. Is it true that one of the pyramids in Egypt has great spiritual significance? We hear much discussion concerning it. Please tell us what the Scriptures teach about it.

A. It is true that there is widespread teaching concerning the spiritual significance of the great pyramid, and it is claimed by those who propagate this teaching that the pyramid is referred to in Isaiah 19:19-20, where it is written: "In that day shall there be an altar to Jehovah in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to Jehovah. And it shall be for a sign and for a witness unto Jehovah of hosts in the land of Egypt." I have read much concerning this matter, but am not at all satisfied that this Scripture is a reference to the great pyramid. There seems to be no real evidence that the pyramid was ever used as an altar or considered as such. Just what is the altar referred to we cannot tell. For my own part I am satisfied that the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament are a quite sufficient revelation for our faith and guidance.

J. W. CANNON III FUNERAL RITES SET

Plane Crash Victim To Be Buried in York, S. C., Tomorrow.

AIKEN, S. C., Feb. 14.—(UP)—Funeral services for J. W. Cannon III, who died in a hospital here last night of injuries suffered when his plane crashed near Snellings, S. C. Saturday, will be held at the First Presbyterian church in York, S. C., Wednesday at 3 p. m.

The body will leave here tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in York cemetery. Active pallbearers will include only close friends and relatives.

Cannon, who married Elizabeth Morrill in Aiken two years ago, is survived by his wife; his mother, Mrs. W. V. Andrews, of Miami, Fla., and one sister, Mrs. Even Draper, of Hopedale, Mass.

Mrs. J. W. Cannon III, the former Elizabeth Morrill, is an Atlanta girl, the daughter of Mrs. Alva P. McCrary, of 1785 Peachtree street. She met Mr. Cannon while he was a student at Georgia Tech, and they were married two years ago.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-aid, vitamin B. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Spelling Bee Entry Blanks Sent To County School Superintendents

Applications in Constitution
Contest Sent Officials
Throughout State.

Washington, D. C., to take part in the national final and participate in $1,750 of cash prizes.

Praise for the plan came from Professor J. P. Cash, superintendent of Canton schools, who is recognized throughout Georgia as a high authority on spelling.

"I have always contended," declared Professor Cash, "that a person who can write well, speak well and punctuate well, and form strong, well constructed sentences is on the high road to success in selling himself to the public."

Heartily Endorses Bee.

"We most heartily give our endorsement to the National Spelling Bee. The Constitution is doing much for the development of the art of spelling correctly in sponsoring this contest in the state of Georgia."

J. P. CASH.

dorsement to the National Spelling Bee. The Constitution is doing much for the development of the art of spelling correctly in sponsoring this contest in the state of Georgia.

"Perhaps the teaching of spelling does not receive the proper emphasis in most of the schools at the present time. The records of the state high school spelling contest held every spring reveal this fact, for in a very large per cent of our high schools the grades are from 50 per cent to 60 per cent of correctly spelled words."

Touching his own career and the notable record of success achieved by pupils in his jurisdiction Professor Cash declared:

"I have been a great believer in correct spelling and have personally taught this subject to the pupils in our own high school."

Winners for 20 Years.

"In the high school spelling contests we have won the district contest for more than a score of years during the last 25 years. We have won the state championship more times than any other school in the state during the same number of years."

Decision of The Constitution to award grade championship certificates as well as school and county certificates, in the earlier stages of the National Spelling Bee, is expected to heighten interest among the various student bodies.

Youngsters Eligible Later.

It is pointed out that, while the bees are restricted to the three upper years of grade school life, interest will be aroused among the younger pupils who will be eligible later, and who thus will be stimulated to a heightened eagerness.

Educators familiar with psychology observed that careful attention to detail, rapid objective thinking and self-confidence are fostered by the spelling bee—one of the oldest of American forms of education—and found the attractive awards offered by The Constitution an added incentive to grade school pupils.

O'CONNOR APPOINTED VALUATOR FOR FHA

Ed F. O'Connor Jr., of Savannah, has been appointed staff valuator of the Federal Housing Administration in Georgia and will assume his new duties today. William A. GEORGIA'S SOLONS EXPLAIN CROP BILL

Owens Declares Control Is Not Predicated on Philosophy of Scarcity.

of farmers' income, and, consequently, diminution of industrial income, and increase of industrial unemployment."

Long before the special session of congress convened, Mr. Owen was called to Washington to serve on a subcommittee of the committee of agriculture, which drafted the original house bill.

Good Features, Says Brown.

Representative Brown, who is not a member of the committee, but who took an active part in hearings on the bill, believes the measure has good features, but is unsatisfactory in many respects.

Both before the committee and on the floor of the lower chamber, Representative Brown advocated parity or near parity for cotton and other basic commodities consumed in the United States and surplus sold abroad at world prices and voted for amendments carrying out his idea.

Reverting to cotton in his analysis of the bill, Representative Owen said that a distinguishing feature of the new measure is that a cotton farmer is not restricted from marketing in excess of a specified amount of his product, in terms of bales or pounds.

"He can market all he produces on his acreage allotment, whether 100 pounds to the acre or a bale to the acre," Mr. Owen declared.

Rewards Good Farming.

"This means that if a farmer by means of using good farming practices and giving close and efficient attention to the growing of his crops, produces more on his allotted acreage than some of his neighbors, he is not denied the reward of good farming."

"The principal new features of the act are the provisions for establishing marketing quotas when the total supply of any of the five basic commodities exceeds an amount in excess of specified percentages of that amount that would, under normal conditions, be sufficient to supply domestic consumption and exports, and the usual carryover, plus a reserve supply to be stored for days of scarcity, and the provision for mandatory loans on farm commodities, designed to prevent price collapse and stabilize prices."

"Marketing quotas are not arbitrary. The farmers themselves are to determine whether they want marketing quotas. In the case of each commodity, if more than one-third of the farmers voting in a referendum decide they do not want marketing quotas, there will be no quotas."

Cotton Marketing.

"In the case of cotton," he declared, "a producer will be permitted to market without penalty all of the cotton he produces on his allotted acreage. This is different from the method used under the Bankhead act, where a producer was allotted a certain number of bales that he could market without penalty. The present method is much more desirable and rewards good farming practices and encourages economic production of cotton."

"The acreage allotment of cotton for Georgia in 1938 would be in the neighborhood of 2,000,000 acres and 98 per cent of the acreage allotment would be apportioned to counties on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton during the five calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the state allotment is apportioned, plus in applicable years the acreage diverted under previous AAA programs, with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and trends in acreage during such five-year period."

For New Producers.

"Not to succeed 2 per cent of the state acreage allotment will be set aside for new producers in 1938. Those who expect to grow cotton for the first time this year should not expect to get an acreage allotment anywhere nearly as large as that given to old-established cotton producers."

"The county allotment is to be allocated to producers in a county by first setting aside sufficient acreage to give each farm on which cotton has been planted during any of the previous three years, five acres, or the highest number of acres planted to cotton plus the acres diverted from the production of cotton under any of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration programs in any such three-year period."

"After making allocation to these five-acre or less farms, not more than 3 per cent of the remainder of the county allotment shall be set aside to be given to producers who would otherwise get an allotment between 5 and 15 acres. Then the remainder of the county allotment will be allotted to farms on which cotton has been planted in any of the previous three years by giving to each farm a pro-rata percentage of the tilled land of such farm to be grown to cotton in 1938."

The bill fixes the normal supply of cotton at 18,200,000 bales and provides for limiting sales to 19,500,000 bales and production to 10,000,000 in the next few years. The big 1937 crop makes marketing quotas virtually certain this year and next, provided growers approve. Sales in excess of such quotas would be subject to a penalty of two cents a pound this year and three cents next year. Loans and subsidies on the 1937 crop are provided.

Mr. Owen said that marketing quotas on flue-cured tobacco differ from marketing quotas on cotton in that the national marketing quota for the flue-cured product will be allotted to states and ultimately to farms on a poundage basis. The farmer cannot market in excess of his marketing quota without a penalty.

The normal supply of flue-cured tobacco is fixed at 1,585,000,000 pounds; marketing quotas to apply when supply reaches 1,660,000,000 pounds. Growers may invoke marketing quotas by referendum when supply is five per cent above normal.

last fall to deal with this, among other problems.

Wrath Incurred.

In so doing they incurred the wrath of dairy and cattle interests by eliminating provisions, contained in both bills, preventing farmers from going into the dairying or cattle-raising business on land withdrawn from crop production. There were also complaints that matter included in neither bill was added by the conferees.

"We have created a third house wholly independent of the senate and house to formulate our legislation," Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, the minority leader, complained today.

McNary was one of several who discussed the measure today. He said the bill provided no new benefits to the farmers, except an extension of loans upon the 1937 cotton crop.

Senator Barkley, the Democratic leader, said all were agreed that agriculture was a national problem, one that could not be solved by the states.

"This is the best farm bill that has ever been enacted by the congress to deal with a great problem of American life," he said.

ALBERT COBB ASKS FOR EARLY TRIAL

Petition Cites Judge's Disqualification.

MILLEN, Ga., Feb. 14.—(P)—Attorneys for Albert L. Cobb, Savannah lawyer indicted with four others in connection with the slaying of Charlie L. Daughtry, today petitioned Judge William Woodrum, of the Ogeechee circuit, to aid in obtaining an early trial for Cobb, Joe and Ralph Newton.

Judge Woodrum has disqualified himself, and has arranged for Judge Gordon Knox to hear the case.

The petition asked Judge Woodrum, if necessary, to call a special term, pointing out that "as the law makes it incumbent upon the resident judge who is disqualified to see to it in cases of this sort the defendants have speedy trial."

The trial has been set for May term.

STORM IN ARCTIC MacGregor Camp Swept by Violent Wind.

By CLIFFORD J. MacGREGOR.
(Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

REINDEER POINT, Greenland, Feb. 14.—(By Wireless).—One of the worst storms encountered this winter descended on our camp today. This morning the weather was clear, with a temperature of 17 below zero at 7 o'clock.

The wind suddenly shifted from the northwest to south. The temperature began to rise and, by 11 a.m., it was up to zero, with a light snow falling. The wind increased in intensity, hurling the snow into a fury. The visibility is zero.

Spring Adds a Gay Dress to Drab Winter Lawns

Magnolias Confirm Harbingers of Spring as Weatherman Gets Pessimistic.

Atlanta appeared even more a "City of Blossoms" yesterday as continued warm temperatures added to Mother Nature's advanced spring show, bringing out peach and pear trees in gay pink and white dress.

Jonquils, daffodils and other flowers decorated lawns and gardens of Atlanta homes and here and there leaves can be seen sprouting on trees.

Throughout the state, farmers were busy breaking land and ploughing—leaving ordinary February chores to be done when bad weather, which the weatherman says is sure to follow—sets in.

In Twigg and adjoining counties came reports of planting already under way. Corn, cotton, potato, peanut, pimiento and watermelon seed have been placed.

The only retarding factor to growth in this premature spring has been the lack of rain, the weatherman said. But he forecast occasional showers today which will bring much-needed moisture to the rapidly drying soil.

Though temperatures will be cooler than during the past several days, spring will still be with us, the weatherman said. A low of 45 degrees is predicted this morning, 12 degrees below the low of yesterday.

Cold in the northwest furnishes no immediate threat to Atlanta and Georgia, George W. Mindling, chief meteorologist of the Atlanta Weather Bureau, said.

"The cold seems to be following the path of the storm which moved eastward over the Great Lakes and failed to hit southward," he explained. "Atlanta's weather will be cooler today but not cold."

Constitution Staff Photo—Slayton.

Signs of spring again appeared in Atlanta yesterday. Little Virginia Burns, daughter of the Rev. Robert W. Burns, of Peachtree Christian church, holds Chinese magnolias, now in bloom on grounds of the rectory at 1590 Peachtree street.

FIX THAT COLD!

And Fix It Right—Depend on No
Mere Half-way Measures!

A cold neglected may be a cold regretted! Many a "slight" cold has ended in flu and pneumonia. Treat a cold quickly and treat it sensibly.

Forego "cure-alls." A cold calls for a cold treatment and not a preparation good for all kinds of ailments.

A cold also calls for internal treatment, for a cold is an internal infection.

Your Treatment!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are what you want for a cold. First, they are a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds and nothing else.

Secondly, they are internal medication, fourfold in effect. Here's what they do:

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack. These four effects make a real cold treatment and in Bromo Quinine you get them all in the form of a single tablet.

The Stitch in Time!

Beat a cold to the punch. As soon as you feel any symptoms, start taking Bromo Quinine tablets at once. Two tablets every four hours will soon break up the cold.

Bromo Quinine tablets may be taken with confidence. They have been on the market for over 40 years and are the world's largest-selling cold tablets.

Bromo Quinine tablets come in 35c and 60c sizes. The 60c size is the better "buy." It gives you almost 20 per cent more for your money.

Ask for—and insist upon getting—Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets). Any attempt to sell you anything else may be viewed with suspicion.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

Terry's jaw set firmly. He resented Gerta's faintly amused air, relieved though he was by her attitude. It was a temptation to tell her the truth... but it wouldn't do. Not now. Gerta came to his aid again.

"You're trying to think up some perfectly nice way to tell me that you and I—well, we are through, aren't we?"

"I hope not," he told her, almost too eagerly. "We have been friends for a long time. I see no reason why we can't keep on." "Yes you do, my dear. Or you wouldn't have accented the 'friends' as you did. There never have been any strings, Terry. You fell in with your usual luck. I hope it lasts—even with some would come my way." She attempted to say it lightly.

"I think it will." "You don't mean that, Terry. I don't suppose I've ever been accused of priggishness, but I have a pride of sorts—after all."

"And so have I. And I'm not forgetful. Your obligations are mine, partly. That's understood."

"And very sweet of you, Terry. I only wish I were in a position to be very noble and refuse. If I had known sooner..."

"That's just it, Gerta. Nobody could have known. I'm not looking for any outs. I reckon the old law of self-preservation still works. When a fellow faces what I—"

"Please, Terry! Didn't I say that I wasn't blaming you in the least? I would have done the same thing. There's no use going heroic—unless it pays."

"That's mighty decent of you, Gerta. Most women wouldn't be like that."

"Perhaps you don't know your women, she shrugged. "Do you care to tell me any more about your—future? I realize that I won't be seeing you."

"And I don't see why," he persisted stubbornly. "Dad's rather fond of you, I'm sure."

Gerta's laugh was genuine. "Didn't I say that you didn't know your women? But I'm glad if she thinks she likes me. She is a sweet little thing—even without her money. But let me tell you, my dear, from one woman about another, don't underestimate your fiancée."

"I don't," he rejoined a trifle dryly. "And I've had my lesson. I'm keeping my nose to the grindstone until I get back on my feet. I don't relish the idea of being under obligations..."

"Terry, Terry!" Gerta interrupted him with a resigned lift of her arched brows. "Didn't I tell you that heroes don't pay any more? Obligations never will worry you very much—except certain ones. Why don't we forget what has passed? I'm ready to... with congratulations."

"You're swell, Gerta. But I knew you'd understand."

"Surely. And don't worry about me. I assure you there will be no scenes. When I have a chance—well, my good wishes for Dad will be as sincere as any I've ever uttered."

"Thank you. And I will be seeing you very soon. I must go now."

"Au revoir," he corrected with a smile.

When the muffled clang of the elevator door reached her ears, Terry suggested rather diffidently that he and Dad go to the mezzanine. She put Terry at his ease by assuring him the first thing that Judge Pomphrette's visit was a complete surprise to her. "It was my telegram that brought him," she confessed. "He was rather wrought up—until I explained. Then, of course, he had no objections to offer. Much. So"

"I should think you'd have had enough this past year to last you a lifetime," the judge spurted. "I think they've gone to your head, if you ask me. I hope you'll be exceedingly happy and stay married as long as your folks did. And now, that's that. How about eating? I wouldn't mind drinking your healths, while we're at it—if you won't mention it to mama when you see her. There's still some honorable forms of etiquette she won't line up with."

"Mum's the word!" Caradad promised gayly. "Maybe I'll break over this once myself. Let's go. I'm hungry."

If Terry feared that the judge was to have a part in the financial settlement between himself and Dad, he was pleasantly disappointed. Pomphrette remarked brusquely, as they left the dining room, that he had a little business to attend to and was sure the young folks would excuse him. He would see Caradad at breakfast, if she got up in time. And, doubtless, he would run into Terry before leaving for home.

Terry suggested rather diffidently that he and Dad go to the mezzanine. She put Terry at his ease by assuring him the first thing that Judge Pomphrette's visit was a complete surprise to her. "It was my telegram that brought him," she confessed. "He was rather wrought up—until I explained. Then, of course, he had no objections to offer. Much. So"

"I should think you'd have had enough this past year to last you a lifetime," the judge spurted. "I think they've gone to your head, if you ask me. I hope you'll be exceedingly happy and stay married as long as your folks did. And now, that's that. How about eating? I wouldn't mind drinking your healths, while we're at it—if you won't mention it to mama when you see her. There's still some honorable forms of etiquette she won't line up with."

"Mum's the word!" Caradad promised gayly. "Maybe I'll break over this once myself. Let's go. I'm hungry."

If Terry feared that the judge was to have a part in the financial settlement between himself and Dad, he was pleasantly disappointed. Pomphrette remarked brusquely, as they left the dining room, that he had a little business to attend to and was sure the young folks would excuse him. He would see Caradad at breakfast, if she got up in time. And, doubtless, he would run into Terry before leaving for home.

Gerta made a swift little rush to her bedroom. As she lay on her bed, one bare arm pressed against her dry eyes, one thought was uppermost in her mind. She had made a deliberate attempt to give Caradad Vardell the impression that she cared nothing for Terry—that she was abandoning him to his fate. She had succeeded only too well. Terry had his price and Caradad could pay it.

"Pretty close to six thousand—for everything."

"All right. And you'd rather not have a check, I suppose. We'll go to the bank tomorrow and I'll get it in currency."

"I'll give you my I O U—fixed any way you say."

"No." Caradad shook her head. "There's not going to be any paper like that between us. You can give me a straight receipt without any notations. And now, let's forget about it for today."

For the next half hour she chatted in her usual fashion—of Judge Pomphrette mainly. How funny he was and how dear, once you got under his brusque exterior.

By degrees, Terry relaxed. His first impulse, when the conversation became general, was to ask Dad to go out somewhere for the evening. Until he remembered suddenly that it would put him in rather an awkward position, whether Caradad accepted or not.

As he was mulling over this a smiling young man, hat in hand, appeared apparently from nowhere. "Pardon me," he began, smiling at the puzzled Caradad, "but this is Miss Vardell, isn't it?"

"Yes," she returned hesitatingly.

"Miss Vardell," the intruder went on hastily, "my paper is running a little story about you tomorrow. I wondered if you wouldn't give me a little interview, too—just something about your visit here, impressions, that sort of thing—and if you have a recent picture you can let me have..."

"Of course not!"

"Well... I wish you would. It's a good story for us. Oil interests from Oklahoma—announces engagement to Chicago man, you know. Say!" He grinned at Terry. "Bet you're the chap—Cantine, isn't it?"

The latter bounced to his feet. "Never mind who I am. Didn't you hear this lady tell you that she has nothing for you? Beat it, before I throw you over that rail."

"Don't get tough, big boy," was the imperturbable reply. "If you don't want to play, it's perfectly all right. We have the story. And with that he walked away."

As Terry threw himself down beside Caradad with a growl of resentment, a dazzling white blink flashed from the shadows of a nearby pillar. Caradad clutched at his arm in fright.

"Flashlight," Terry was on his feet. "Wait. I'll..."

"No, no! Please! Don't make a scene."

"But they're not allowed to pull that stuff in a place like this. I can... I'd like to know who tipped them off..."

"I wonder, too. But it's too late."

Her curiosity was not appeased until the following morning. At 8, Judge Pomphrette called her and announced that she would find him at the main restaurant. Ten minutes later he was peering at her over the top of his paper. He removed the horn-rim spectacles that were astride his hooked nose.

"Morning, my dear. Well, I see the paper has done very well by us this morning."

She gave a little gasp. "Uncle Pompey! Let me see... Oh! Isn't that dreadful!" She almost snatched the paper from his hands to stare at a two-column cut showing Terry and her on that mezzanine settee.

HINDU GODS AND GODDESSES.

Most people in India—about 225,000,000 of them—follow the Hindu faith. Perhaps we should say "faiths," for there are scores of sects in the Hindu religion, and they differ from one another in many ways.

So strong is in the past. Only a few present-day churches are kept up in his honor.

The worship of Vishnu has become important. Hindus say Vishnu has appeared on earth ten times. It is supposed he once dwelt in the body of a hero known as Rama. Later he is said to have lived among men under the name of Krishna.

Sometimes Vishnu is pictured as having four arms, and as sleeping on the body of a large serpent. He is the special god of traders and merchants, and in their churches they worship him as the greatest of all the gods. Some followers of Vishnu mark their foreheads with three white, upright lines.

Even greater in number are the Hindus who look on Siva as the most important. This god is supposed to have three eyes and artists are fond of showing him riding on the back of a bull.

In some ways, Siva is an evil god, a kind of demon. He may destroy the homes of men, or bring death to people. Some scholars believe the idea of Siva grew out of an olden storm god known as Rudra.

Hindus who worship Siva say there is also a good side to him, and that he brings new life to take the place of the dead.

JURY IS SELECTED IN CHILD SLAYING

Mary O'Connor Goes on Trial in Death of Five-Year-Old Nancy Glenn.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A jury unopposed to capital punishment was drawn today to try Mary K. O'Connor on charges she killed five-year-old Nancy Glenn.

District Attorney Charles C. Gordon asked that many of the 69 jurors examined be excused "for cause" when they answered they were opposed to the death sentence. A jury of three women and nine men was selected.

To objections of Defense Attorney William A. Gray that the district attorney designate what he meant by "cause," Gordon answered that he "may" ask tomorrow that the 19-year-old girl athlete be sent to the electric chair.

Nancy Glenn was found dead last night. An autopsy showed mud and water in her lungs. Miss O'Connor, a neighbor of the Glenn family, was arrested in November at the New Jersey home of her grandparents. Statements attributed to her and produced at earlier hearings quoted her as saying she struck the child in anger and left her for dead, face down in a puddle.

Miss O'Connor firmly denied her guilt of charges in three indictments at the opening of the trial. The charges were murder, manslaughter and involuntary manslaughter.

At the adjournment Mrs. Marie Phillips, former Olympic women's gymnast, who is under $500 bail as a material witness, tried to talk with Mary in the courtroom. A court attaché led her away.

BRITAIN WILL HELP PROTECT CIVILIANS

Eden Declares Nation Will Join in Move to End Spanish Bombings.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons today he had informed France that Great Britain was prepared to co-operate in any French move to end bombing of civilians in the Spanish civil war.

He made his statement in reply to a question concerning a French movement to suggest that the Vatican persuade Premier Mussolini, of Italy, to get the Spanish Insurgents to stop bombing towns behind the lines.

"His Majesty's government have not approached the Vatican directly," he said, "but have informed the French government that they are now prepared to associate themselves with such initiative as the French government may desire to take in the matter, whether through the Vatican or other channels."

Ponce de Leon Avenue Family Recovers Quickly After Learning How

"The entire family uses Mentho-Mulsion and I keep a bottle on hand at all times," said Mrs. W. J. Crawford, of 1129 Ponce de Leon avenue recently. Continuing, Mrs. Crawford said, "I had been using Mentho-Mulsion for my baby for some time, and when last November I contracted a bad cold and cough I decided to take some of it myself. It broke up my cold and relieved my cough right away. Like Mentho-Mulsion especially because it is not constipating and I need never hesitate to give it to my two children. My husband takes it too at the first sign of a cough or cold. It costs only 75c, and we would never be without a bottle of Mentho-Mulsion in the house."—(adv.)

SIX ARE RESCUED BY FIRE FIGHTERS

Heroic Efforts of Owner Fail to Save Cat From 2-Alarm Blaze.

Six persons were rescued by firemen and a pet Persian cat was smothered to death, despite efforts of its owner to save it, when a two-alarm fire burned the interior of an apartment building at 387 Boulevard, N. E., yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Q. L. Long, occupant of one of four apartments on the second floor of the two-story brick structure, discovered the blaze at about 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

She ran to the apartment of the resident manager, Mrs. J. W. Hargrove, and firemen were called. A second alarm was sounded within a few minutes of arrival of first companies. Six pumps and two aerial ladders were among apparatus with which firemen fought the blaze for two hours.

Raising ladders, firemen led to safety Mrs. Long, who had gone back to her apartment after notifying Mrs. Hargrove; her infant son, Arthur Long, and her mother, Mrs. A. M. White, of Cordele, who was visiting her daughter at the time.

Members of the Long family remained on a window ledge, as smoke billowed about them, until firemen came to their aid. Smoke had also trapped Dorothy Hagen and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hagen, in another second-floor apartment, and they were also rescued.

Miss Hagen held a pet dog in her arms as she was rescued down a ladder, a negro cook, Mary Jefferson, also was led down a ladder, and Saul Silverman, an invalid, was removed from his apartment on the first floor.

Brings Out Cat. Q. L. Long, owner of the pet cat, hurried to the burning building from his place of business. In spite of thick smoke and the danger of collapsing floors, Long ran into his apartment and brought out the animal. The cat, named "Blackie," died a few minutes later in a near-by drugstore.

The fire burned fiercely, but slowly, through walls. At one point, the first floor in the rear, directly over where the fire broke out in the basement, collapsed.

Assistant Fire Chief W. A. Fain theorized the blaze, which threw a pall of dense smoke over the vicinity, started in a basement coal bin. Mrs. Hargrove expressed the opinion defective wiring caused the fire.

Firemen estimated damage at $7,000, with an additional $3,000 loss in personal property and furnishings. W. E. Beresford, of 328 Marietta street, is owner of the property. Water and smoke added to the damage.

Fire Chief O. J. Parker directed the firefighters, and a large crowd was attracted to the scene. Traffic on Boulevard was snarled until police rerouted automobiles.

J. R. DUKE'S FUNERAL TO BE THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services for J. R. Duke, 48, of 623 Rosalia street, S. E., who died Sunday in a private hospital, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, with the Rev. L. B. Jones officiating. Burial will be in East View cemetery.

A native Atlantian, Mr. Duke had been a drug salesman with Abbott Laboratories for a number of years. He was a Mason and a member of Grant Park Methodist church.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Joel and Robert Duke, and two sisters, Mrs. J. E. Garst and Mrs. Troy G. Nabors, all of Atlanta.

baking or famous for fixing pretty salads. But these are good only on special occasions. When you are head of a home, a knowledge of meat cookery will prove your most most valuable asset as a cook.

Not Difficult. "Fortunately, this knowledge is not hard to acquire nor to put into use. The beginner who will follow the rules exactly can obtain as good results as the more experienced cook. For there are new and better ways of cooking meat which have been put into practice in recent years. Old ways have been changed or discarded."

Miss Chambers is a member of the staff of the National Livestock and Meat Board, an organization acting as a clearing house for information about cooking meat as developed through research work in colleges and universities.

Hundreds of housewives last year did not miss even one hour of the sessions, which close conveniently at 11 o'clock each morning. This year, hundreds of others are making plans for the four mornings, beginning today.

2 French Fliers Stop Over Here On Long Flight

Two French fliers on their way to South America to spread good will for the French air ministry, landed at Candler field yesterday after a five-hour flight from New York, took a look at the weather reports and decided to stay awhile.

But Antoine De Saint Exupery, French air mail pilot and author of "Night Flight," impatiently disregarded the "ceiling zero, visibility zero" reports and had his low-winged monoplane in readiness to hop off for New Orleans at 2:30 o'clock this morning. His mechanic, Andre Prevot, indicated he also wanted to "push on."

Neither of the French aviators spoke English, but two Atlantians, Henri Sautier and F. P. Courtois, interpreted for them at an informal dinner given the visitors at the Capital City Club.

Guided by radio beams, the two flew down from New York without using their radio transmitter. They explained they had to shut it off because neither could understand English.

Exupery, who eight years ago blazed the air trail from France to South America by way of the Azores islands, highly praised the American "radio beam" system for "every-day flying." Prevot, however, moaned about the fate of being unable to understand or talk to people in the United States.

The French fliers will make a six-week flight down the Pacific coast of South America to Cape Horn, returning up the Atlantic coast. Exupery is going to make a series of "good will" lectures. They will return to America to make a study of American airports and aviation.

Good Food Secret of Real Beauty, Says Cooking School Expert Here

Purchase Health at Market, Urges Miss Chambers

Citing Example

Want the secret of real beauty? Miss Ruth Chambers, who arrived in Atlanta yesterday to conduct The Constitution's Cooking school, believes many women have the wrong ideas about beauty.

"Good health is the real beauty secret," she asserted, "and good health comes from good food. Women are coming to realize that they can purchase good health—and beauty—at the food market more surely than they can get it at the cosmetics counter."

"Lotions and creams and rouges may be aids to beauty, but good health and good food are its foundation."

Actress Cites Vitality. Miss Chambers declared: "In a recent talk, one of the most beautiful of motion picture actresses placed vitality before beautiful features in importance for success on the screen. And eating wisely was one of her rules for achieving radiant vitality."

"Yet, many women will endanger their health and beauty by following unbalanced, unsafe diets in an effort to gain or retain a slim figure. Especially is this foolish when there are ways to reduce without running the risk of impairing their health."

The culinary expert said every person must work out his or her own diet, either to gain or lose weight, but it is necessary that all know a few facts about nutrition. She said the body needs certain food essentials and any diet lacking one of these is dangerous to health.

Lean Meat Protein. "The value of lean meat in the reducing diet is great, for it is the source of excellent quality protein," she continued. "Meat leaves a feeling of satisfaction and does away with that 'all gone' feeling, too, which it does not cause increased paundage."

In the gaining of weight, more as this and none other had a width limitation below 96 inches.

In other decisions today the supreme court:

Affirmed an order of the Texas Railroad Commission reducing gas rates in Laredo from 75 to 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. Justices Butler and McReynolds dissented and Justice Black delivered a separate concurring opinion.

Gave Thomas J. Mooney 30 days in which to file arguments supporting his request for a review of an adverse California supreme court decision.

SPUR FOR U. S. LIMITATION SEEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Trucking association leaders saw tonight in the supreme court decision upholding the right of states to regulate use of their highways a new spur for federal limitation of the size and weight of motor trucks.

Theodore D. Platt, president of the New York State Motor Trucking Association, said supreme court approval of South Carolina's law setting the gross weight of trucks at 20,000 pounds and the maximum width at 90 inches would "bring confusion" until the Interstate Commerce Commission asked congress to approve uniform regulations or give the commission power to do so.

DEFENSE TO BE THEME OF CIVITAN CLUB MEET

National Defense Week will be the theme of the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Civitan Club of Atlanta at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Colonel Louis Falligant, executive officer at Fort McPherson, will be principal speaker. His subject will be "Adequate National Defense." Skipper Williams, child entertainer, and Forest Traylor, pianist, will be features.

Justice Stone, who read today's opinion, declared the constitution does not forbid the regulation set up by South Carolina. The decision was 7 to 0, Justices Cardozo and Reed not participating.

Justice Stone said the constitutional grant of power to congress to regulate interstate commerce did not "forestall all state action affecting interstate commerce."

He said it had been recognized that there were matters of local concern, "the regulation of which unavoidably involves some regulation of interstate commerce but which, because of their local character and their number and diversity, may never be fully dealt with by congress."

Truck Sizes.
The lower court found that from 85 to 90 per cent of motor trucks used in interstate hauls were 96 inches wide and weighed, when loaded, more than 20,000 pounds. Only four other states, it said, prescribed a gross weight as low food does not need to be consumed, but food of high caloric value should be eaten. While one is trying to gain weight by eating starchy, sugary foods, he must not forget to get the right amount of protein."

"Whether a person neither loses nor gains—and doesn't want to do either—he should still check on his diet occasionally, remembering that a close tie exists between good food and good health—and good looks."

Each day beginning this morning, Miss Chambers will elaborate on her ideas in speeches at the Georgia theater. She will not only point out the necessity of good food, but will give lectures explaining the best ways of preparing the food in every type of kitchen.

U. S. LOSES IN SUIT OVER TRUCK LAWS

Supreme Court Upholds South Carolina Limitation; Florida Also Fails.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The federal government suffered a reverse today when the supreme court decided that a state can constitutionally limit the width and weight of interstate automobile trucks passing through its territory.

The high tribunal upheld a South Carolina law limiting truck widths to 90 inches and gross weights to 20,000 pounds. A decision by a three-judge federal district court, which had enjoined enforcement of the law, was nullified.

Intervening in the case, the Department of Justice had contended the law was an "unreasonable burden" on interstate commerce. Officials of Florida, who also fought the law, expressed concern at today's decision.

Blow to Florida.
Cary D. Landis, Florida attorney general, said it would be "a terrible blow to the Florida citrus industry" because it would not pay shippers to dispatch such small loads of fruit to eastern markets.

Justice Stone, who read today's opinion, declared the constitution does not forbid the regulation set up by South Carolina. The decision was 7 to 0, Justices Cardozo and Reed not participating.

Justice Stone said the constitutional grant of power to congress to regulate interstate commerce did not "forestall all state action affecting interstate commerce."

He said it had been recognized that there were matters of local concern, "the regulation of which unavoidably involves some regulation of interstate commerce but which, because of their local character and their number and diversity, may never be fully dealt with by congress."

Truck Sizes.
The lower court found that from 85 to 90 per cent of motor trucks used in interstate hauls were 96 inches wide and weighed, when loaded, more than 20,000 pounds. Only four other states, it said, prescribed a gross weight as low

You'll have more fun when the SKIN is clear from WITHIN

NO man or woman wants to have a finger poked at them or receive sympathy because of an unhealthy skin appearance.

Some skin troubles are tough to correct, but we do know this—skin tissues like the body itself must be fed from within.

FRANCO ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR MASSING ARMY OF MILLION

Insurgents Report Effort to End Spanish War in Six Months.

HENDAYE, France, at the Spanish Frontier, Feb. 14.—(P)—An insurgent dispatch said today that Generalissimo Francisco Franco was massing approximately 1,000,000 men for a drive to end the Spanish civil war in six months.

Government sources interpreted the announcement as merely an attempt to bolster the morale of insurgent troops.

These sources pointed out that the last big action of the war was the capture of Teruel by the government and the unsuccessful insurgent attempt to recapture it. They said the official optimism of the insurgent general staff indicated the troops' morale had hit a new low and needed strengthening.

As a direct reply to the insurgent announcement, government troops northwest of Teruel launched a series of counterattacks, halting Franco's drive on the eastern side of the Lfambra valley.

Explaining the insurgent staff's plans for throwing 1,000,000 men into a spring offensive, Salamanca dispatches said the present army numbered 815,000 veterans and was being reinforced by 65,000 conscripts between the ages of 20 and 22, in addition to an unlimited number of Moors being recruited in North Africa.

The offensive, military observers believed, would center on the South Aragon front above Teruel and would be aimed at reaching the Mediterranean and cutting Catalonia off from the rest of government Spain.

Meanwhile, the insurgents reported they were continuing their drive on the southern front, about 150 miles south of Madrid, asserting several mountain positions had been taken in the Serena sector.

The government admitted losing "several positions" but said the insurgent offensive was fading out in the face of strong resistance.

WRIGHT JURY GETS NEW TESTIMONY

Question of Insanity Is Briefly Presented.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—(P)—The question whether Paul Wright was insane when he shot to death his wife and John Kimmel, his friend, was given to a superior court jury late today.

The jury is the same body which last week convicted Wright, former airport manager, of manslaughter in connection with the slayings.

Both defense and prosecution were surprisingly brief in presenting their cases.

The jury retired at 10:10 p. m., (12:10 a. m. Atlanta time) without reaching a verdict.

ARMY ORDERS

FILIBUSTER FACES CLOTURE PETITION

18 Senators Sign To Force
Vote on Lynch Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(P)—Eighteen senators signed a petition today to invoke the drastic cloture rule, limiting each senator's debate to one hour, in an effort to force a vote on the controversial anti-lynching bill.

Defeated once before in an attempt to stop the filibuster which has engaged the senate for 26 days, Senators Wagner, Democrat,

New York, and Van Nuys, Democrat, Indiana, authors of the measure, filed the new petition.

To invoke the rule, it would be necessary for two-thirds of those voting to support the petition.

MOSCOW ARRESTS NEWS TRANSLATOR

in Night Raid.

MOSCOW, Feb. 14.—(P)—Nadejda Radunskaia, woman translator for an American organization, International News Service, was arrested in a night raid on her apartment by secret police police, it was learned today.

Her sister, Nora, a ballet dancer, was arrested several months ago.

Also reported arrested today was the woman secretary to Franz Vacek, a Czechoslovakian newspaper correspondent.

Arrest of the woman translator was the second of Russian employes of American offices in three months. Last November Mme. Tatiana Sofiano, secretary of the Moscow office of the Russian-American Chamber of Commerce, was arrested.

established preference for trial by jury."

Referring to the United Gas Public Service Company, which serves Laredo, Black said:

"I do not agree that the rights of this Delaware corporation doing business in Texas are derived from the fourteenth amendment or that the fourteenth amendment deprives Texas of its constitutional power to determine the reasonableness of intrastate utility rates in that state."

This was in line with a recent dissent in which Black contended that the provision of the fourteenth amendment prohibiting states from depriving "any person" of property without due process of law should not apply to corporations.

His contention would reverse court decisions for 52 years, holding that a corporation is a "person."

In a dissenting opinion today Black disagreed with a 6-to-1 decision ordering a new trial to determine whether the New York Life Insurance Company should pay $50,000 instead of $10,000 for the death of Edward W. Garner at Butte, Mont., on April 10, 1933.

After discussing instructions given the jury by the federal district court in Montana, Black contended that "the jury—not the judge—should decide" whether the preponderance of evidence established that Garner died accidentally or took his own life.

SENATOR PRESSES VENEREAL DRIVE

La Follette Asks Federal Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(P)—Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, told a senate commerce subcommittee today that the federal government should join forces with the states in the treatment and control of venereal diseases.

He urged a favorable report on his bill to establish a division of venereal diseases in the United States Public Health Service.

The measure would authorize appropriation of $3,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939; $6,000,000 for the following year; $12,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1941, and $25,000,000 for each of the 10 fiscal years thereafter.

TWO BANKERS HERE TO VIEW PRISONERS

Arkansas Men Investigate
$7,000 Robbery.

Two officials of the First State Bank of Prescott, Ark., were in Atlanta yesterday seeking to determine if two men now in the federal prison here were the men who robbed the institution at Prescott of $7,000 last April.

The officials were E. M. Sharp, cashier, and Ed Harrison, assistant cashier. The convicts, according to the Associated Press, are Alva Dewey Hunt and Hugh Gant, sentenced at Gainesville, Fla., last Tuesday for robbing a Cross City (Fla.) Bank.

Federal Bureau of Investigation men last night declined to comment on the outcome of the bank officials' visit.

R. O. T. C. at North Fulton High Names Lovely Sub-Debs Sponsors

By Sally Forth.

ACCORDING to members of the youthful set, one of the "thrills of a lifetime" is being elected sponsor for an R. O. T. C. unit, and every year when the young belles are chosen by the military units both at high schools in the city and at the colleges, it's a source of widespread interest.

The choice of a group of young girls for this honor for the various companies at North Fulton High school is announced today and, scanning the names, Sally Forth can predict a combination of beauty and charm when the annual R. O. T. C. day takes place. Those selected are Julia Fleet, Company A; Margaret Crenshaw, Company B; Sarah Farmer, Company C; and Patricia Stewart, Company D. Betsy Smith was chosen battalion sponsor, Betty Dennis band sponsor and Frances Ellis is staff sponsor.

Commanding officers of the R. O. T. C. are Eugene Broadwall, A; Tom Blackwell, B; Malone Vandergrieff, C; and Ted Bell, D. Ralph Whitlock is battalion commander, Floyd Whitney is staff commander and Erle Cocke Jr. is band leader.

IT WAS a happy reunion for Nancy Stair and Marjorie Mitchener Jenkins when the latter arrived in Atlanta last week for residence. Three years had passed since these two friends were classmates at Sophie Newcomb College. Since that time Nancy and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stair, had moved to Atlanta from New Orleans. Marjorie had continued to live in Sumner, Miss. That is, when she wasn't traveling with friends around the world.

Marjorie's marriage to Eugene Otis Jenkins, who hails from Summit, Miss., took place three weeks ago in Summit and was followed by a brilliant reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Mitchener. After a two weeks' honeymoon trip on the gulf coast the newlyweds came to Atlanta to reside and they have taken an apartment on Peachtree road.

Since their arrival Nancy and Marjorie have been busy reminiscing over their college days and unpacking countless wedding gifts sent the bride and groom.

Sally has not met the newcomers but those fortunate enough to be introduced soon after their arrival give glowing accounts of the bride's charm. Which, of course, means that Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will be attractive additions to this city's young married ranks.

GEORGIANS, and especially Atlantans, experienced sincere sorrow in the recent passing of Mrs. Percy Pennybacker, that distinguished Texas clubwoman who made many friends during her frequent visits here with Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Haden. Internationally known, Mrs. Pennybacker did not confine her interests just to club work, for her history of Texas, written when she was very young, became the textbook for the public schools of that state. She was president of the American Federation of Woman's Clubs twice and her latest office was that of executive director of the Chautauqua (N. Y.) Assembly. During recent years she attended the regular meetings of the League of Nations as a representative of American newspapers. She numbered her acquaintances among leading figures on both sides of the Atlantic.

Mr., Mrs. D. C. Hunt Feted on Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hunt entertained on Saturday afternoon at a reception at their home in College Park honoring Mrs. Hunt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Lindsey, on their 50th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Lindsey is the former Miss Addie Lee Upshaw, of Powder Springs, a member of a prominent Georgia family, and Mr. Lindsey is of Scotch-Irish ancestry and is also a native Georgian.

The house was decorated in a gold and white motif and the dining-room table was overlaid with an imported lace cloth, posed over golden-colored satin. The table's central decoration was an arrangement of golden calendulas, yellow snapdragons and white narcissi, flanked by crystal candelabra holding white tapers.

In assisting in entertaining were Mesdames E. D. Barrett, J. C. Hale, Walker Lewis, L. O. Freeman, Clarence Wall, W. W. Cathcart, L. H. Warlick, Paul Solomon, Grant Allen, J. B. Smith, Hunt and E. N. Fair, and Misses Silva Crenshaw, Jessie Hunt, Lucille Mason, Beulah Fain, Alma Burnett and Martha Holt.

Kappa Theta Group Entertains at Tea.

Stafford-Harbour Wedding Is Set For March 8 at Grace Church Rites

Of cordial social interest is the announcement of the wedding plans of Miss Ruth Stafford and George Alfred Harbour Jr., of Canton, N. C., whose marriage will be solemnized on March 8 at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Grace Methodist church.

The Rev. Dr. W. A. Shelton will officiate and Mrs. Roe Calloway, organist; Charles Perry, and Clarence Stubblebine, soloists, and Dr. Deeneen McCormick, violinist, will give a musical program.

The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her father, W. B. Stafford, and will have for her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. D. G. Massey, of Macon, Miss Virginia Gillon, of Columbia, S. C., will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will include Misses Judy Harbour, sister of the groom-elect; Jewell Campbell and Margie Robertson; Mrs. Kendley Martin and Mrs. Charles Stubblebine. The flower girls will be little Patsy Ann Dekle and Bunny Dobbs.

Mr. Harbour will have as his best man Henry Bookout and the groomsmen will be Harry Winner, of Canton, N. C.; Dan Holsenback, of Kingsport, Tenn.; Charles Sumner, S. H. Fowkes Jr., G. E. Nolley and Sam McCrasy. Ushers will be Brooks McCrory, Joe Dekle, Kendley Martin and Charles Stubblebine.

The wedding plans do not call for a reception and the bridal couple will leave immediately after the ceremony for a bridal trip to Miami. Later they will reside in Canton, N. C.

Miss Stafford is being honored at a series of prenuptial affairs, among these being the luncheon and surprise handkerchief shower at which Mrs. Andrew Shiels and her sister, Miss Elsie Aiken, entertained on Saturday. Guests were Misses Stafford, LeGay

Smith, Ruth and Dorothy Layfield, Martha Guest, Mesdames Wiley Tucker, Tom Lane and Ethel Robertson.

Mrs. Murphy Nesbit and her mother, Mrs. R. F. McCormick, honored Miss Stafford with a seated tea later Saturday at their home on Angier avenue.

Mrs. H. L. Perkeron assisted in entertaining the guests, who included Misses Stafford, LeGay Smith, Dorothy Layfield, Jewell Campbell, Ruth and Ruby Cowan, Thelma Firestone, Mesdames D. G. Mothers' Chapter To Award Prizes For Best Papers

Mothers' Chapter of the Cathedral of St. Philip will award a prize of $2.50 for the best paper written by a high school student and $2.50 for the best paper prepared by a college student after hearing the lecture which Mrs. George O. LeFebvre will give on "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom," by T. E. Lawrence (Lawrence of Arabia). This lecture will be given at 3:30 o'clock, February 22, at the Piedmont Driving Club. All papers must be sent to Dean Raimundo de Oviya by March 5. The judges for the contest will be announced later.

Mrs. LeFebvre, a well-known lecturer, will present a word picture of the Near East, giving vivid portrayals of the Arabs and the conditions which brought about their revolt from Turkey, the effect of the peace conference in Paris in 1919 and the part England has played in the affairs of these desert countries. From a historical, political and religious point of view this lecture will be of interest. Women studying "This Moslem World," students of history and literature will find the lecture inspiring and instructive as well as interesting.

The student tickets are on sale at all high schools and colleges. Mrs. Bland Terry is the chairman in charge of tickets. The committee in charge of arrangements is Mesdames Clark Howell, W. A. Swain, M. B. Hodges, H. W. Indell, E. G. Holmes, Bland Terry and others.

FAT WOMEN SMOTHER IN TIGHT GIRDLES

Tight girdles and stiff foundation garments actually make many women look fatter. Instead of squeezing your fat, why don't you try to get rid of it? Why not have a slim, lovely, youthful figure that needs but little girdle control?

The Marmola way is the easy way to get rid of ugly fat. Just take 4 Marmola Prescription Tablets each day, and in place of starch foods like potatoes and pastries, eat more salads, fruits, green vegetables, and so slow on fatty meats. That's simple, isn't it? Yet what a difference Marmola and this little change in your diet may make in your weight. Losses of 5 to 8 pounds a week have been reported in many cases from this simple, easy method of reducing. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same element prescribed by many doctors in treating their fat patients. Get a box at your drugist today and send that ugly fat on its way.

Miss Strauss Becomes the Bride Of Irving Ungar at Home Rites

Miss Carolyn Marie Strauss, daughter of Mrs. Leo Strauss, became the bride of Irving S. Ungar, of Chicago, Ill., last evening at the home of the bride on Briarcliff road, the nuptials being among important social events of the late winter. Rabbi David Marx, officiated at 8 o'clock in the presence of a larger gathering of relatives and friends of the young couple and a number of out-of-town guests.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar upon which stood cathedral candelabra holding white burning tapers. Banking either side of the altar were tall pedestal baskets filled with white gladioli and lilies which were placed before a background of palms, ferns and southern smilax.

Entering with her uncle, Leopold J. Haas, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by the groom and Philip Morris, of Chicago, Ill., who was best and only attendant. The bride's beauty was enhanced by her exquisite gown of pale ice-blue satin fashioned along becoming classic lines and worn with a coatlet short in front and long in the back extending along graceful lines to form a train upon the bride wore a long tulle veil of the same shade finished with soft rosettes on the bandeau effect headress. She carried a shower bouquet of massed gardenias and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony, Mrs. Strauss entertained for her daughter and Mr. Ungar. The library and dining room were decorated with graceful festoons of smilax and spring flowers in artistic arrangement. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and was centered with a large embossed wedding cake. On either side were silver candelabra holding white burning tapers.

Mrs. Strauss, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in black lace and wore gardenias. Mrs. I. Bert Ungar, of Chicago, mother of the groom, was gowned in cell-blue marquisette with a shoulder spray of gardenias. Miss Clementine Haas, aunt of the bride, wore black lace and her flowers were lilies of the valley.

The young couple left for a wedding trip to southern resorts after which they will go to Chicago to reside. The bride travelled in a blue and tan tweed suit trimmed in natural lynx collar. Her hat and other accessories were blue and she wore gardenias on the lapel of her coat.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob

Haas and the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Strauss, all of whom were pioneer residents of Atlanta. She is the daughter of Mrs. Leo G. Strauss and the late Mr. Strauss. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and it was while attending school there that she met Mr. Ungar, who is also a graduate.

Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. I. Bert Ungar, parents of the groom; Mrs. Bertha Joseph, Misses Rose Levinson and Alice Burdette, aunts of the groom; Miss Helen Wolf, Mrs. A. Rimski, Philip Morris Jr. and Stanley Goldberg, all of Chicago.

Beta Sigma Phi.

The Beta Sigma Phi sorority members, guests and dates were entertained last evening at a valentine party at the home of Ruth Shipley on Peachtree road.

Guests of the sorority were Misses Virginia Kelly, Alita Holman, Frances Clarke, Neil Coleman, Mildred Fallin, Lillian Kuny, Catherine Morrison and Beth Stettler. Members present were Misses Nellie Auster, Doris Bert, Mary Beth Browder, Elizabeth Cole, Margaret Cowan, Julie Fornara, Elizabeth Fraser, Annette Gibson, Kay Harsh, Dot Hayes, Anne Hayes, Elizabeth Moore, Dorothy Moor, Marjorie Ponder, Anna Porreca, Christine Quillian, Florence Stephenson, Ruth Shipley and Martha Crowe, director.

Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met recently at the Capitol City Club. Mrs. W. A. Edwards, a friend of the director, Miss Martha Crowe, gave an interesting talk.

Tea Today Honors Mrs. Mellichamp

Among important events of today is the tea to be given honoring Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp, national president of the Service Star Legion at the home of Mrs. T. J. Watkins, on Springdale road. Mrs. Ben F. Holtzendorf, president of the Atlanta and Fulton chapter, will act as official hostess.

Forming a receiving line with the hostess and honor guest will be Mrs. A. H. Strickland, state president of the Service Star Legion; Mrs. C. C. Aven, president of the Schumann-Heink Chapter of the Service Star Legion.

Among those who will assist in entertaining will be Mesdames J. L. Fulghum, M. L. Brittain, Page Rees and past presidents of the local chapters. During the afternoon an enjoyable musical program will be presented by Mrs. Paul Duke, concert pianist; Mrs. William S. Taylor, pianist, and Mrs. T. A. Suttles, soloist. Mrs. Gilmer Christian will preside at the tea table.

The valentine motif will be reflected in the decorations throughout the home and the tea table will be covered with an imported venise cloth and will be centered with a silver bowl filled with red roses. On either side there will be silver candelabra holding red burning tapers.

Exercise Fills Out Ugly Hollows and Makes Legs Appear Straight

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday.—Our dinner with the Vice President and Mrs. Garner on Friday night was, as it always is, one of the most entertaining evenings of the whole year. Mr. Gene Buck provides the entertainers and he certainly chooses them well.

The mind reader was so remarkable that a number of people said they did not think they would like to have him around all the time. I picked out a private telephone number and two names which I thought no one in the room but me would think of, and he told me correctly all that I had written down. We are still chuckling over some stories told by a boy from Kentucky and, when it came to whistling, he was an artist of real talent. So was the Texas girl who played a guitar and sang songs. The others were equally good and the President and the Vice President, both of whom are not overfond of late hours, managed to keep awake very cheerfully until nearly 1 o'clock.

The interesting thing in life down here is its contrasts. They appear in your daily contacts, your mail and your public and private life to such an extent that I sometimes feel anyone who lives in the White House must develop several kinds of personalities. In order to meet the different situations and attitudes of mind which, somehow or other, must be a part of the same individual every day, it is necessary to have different personalities. An artist sent me a photograph of a portrait which he had painted of the President. In his letter he stressed the fact that he painted it in an informal manner because he wished the portrait to be in someone's home where it would make the owner feel the President in a friendly, intimate mood—one which the artist had never seen.

Do all public servants live up to the different pictures people create of them? If so, we should begin to train them young, for it is going to require great versatility.

Of course, for the President these changes are endless, but even for the other members of the household there can be a certain variety. For instance, at tea time yesterday, there was a lady who wished to give the President some of her books. Since he was not able to receive them, she had to content herself with me.

Then there were some guests from Syracuse, N. Y., who harked back to the time when more were concerned with my own state than I can be at present. Then there were about ten youngsters about 16 years old, who had been here for a birthday party; three young men who had arrived from New York and, last but not least, my four-year-old granddaughter. Every woman plays many roles in a day, but here it is intensified.

Pleasant Homes

POLITICAL REVERBERATIONS.

Napoleon left his mark on furniture as well as on the map of Europe.

Napoleon did as much to fashions in furniture as he did to the map of Europe. For, as furniture and decorations have been doing since the beginnings of civilization, they reflected under Napoleon the politics of the directory and the empire.

After the short-lived directory period, it became smart to be warlike, even in furnishings. Spears and shields were seen everywhere in gilded metal ornament or wood. Bedrooms became soldiers' tents, with great lengths of material draped on walls and over beds to simulate a canvas shelter; bedposts were surmounted by Greek helmets, tables and stools were drums, some stools having drum cords stretched around yellow hide.

There was another influence at work, too, in the minds of men and in the decorations of their abodes. They were over and done with the soft, lovely curves and elegance of the Louis—they were through with comfort and ease. Their furniture, therefore, was angular, and it must be admitted, extremely uncomfortable. A wit of the time said, "A thousand precautions are needed to avoid being bruised by the most gentle use of your furniture!" We don't, luckily, have to worry much about discomfort today. Even the most angular Napoleonic bed will yield gracefully to the wonders of a good spring and mattress.

Other Influences.

The empire period designers, Percier and Fontaine, gave more than a nod to the classical Greeks. So furniture appeared with crossed swords and spears, triumphal palms and Victory shown with widespread wings. Napoleon's campaign in Egypt was reflected in the furniture—upright cobra symbols flourished in chair and bed legs; the Goddess Isis was seen in motifs on furniture. Carvings supported chairs and tables; there were lion heads and huge paws and Egyptian winged animals.

Mahogany and ebony were the popular woods and painted furniture was "all the rage!" Bronze decorations were seen everywhere painted a flat gilt. Cold, uncompromising architectural backgrounds were in vogue. But this did not mean that elegance was completely thrown overboard. Soft greens, grays, blues and dusty pinks were popular on walls, and the draperies were usually silk damask, stripes and moires, velvets and many printed fabrics. Against the cool backgrounds, these followers of Napoleon liked to use strong, uncompromising colors, the deep red of mahogany, strong yellows, brilliant blues and greens.

The empire period can fit into our modern picture if we can pick and choose. There won't be any "war" in your living room if you select the best of this period, and it has a way of fitting in nicely with other period furniture, too, as well as with modern.

YOUR FIGURE, MADAME!

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

This stretching exercise is one of the reasons why Dorothy Howe, the Paramount starlet, has beautiful legs. She finds this exercise useful to smooth the calf muscles and slim the ankles. For other aids to leg beauty, send for the leaflet, "Leg Normalizing Exercises," including addressed stamped envelope.

ONLY BEAUTIFUL LEGS CAN WEAR LISLE STOCKINGS.

Short skirts and lisle stockings are major calamities to the girl with knock knees, bow legs, or thick ankles. Skirts are already short, and there is talk of boycotts and lisle stockings!

Now, if you have curvature of the spine, or just plain swayback, science will straighten you out, but it's just a joke if your legs bow out like a hoop. Science can't be bothered! Wanda Bowman-Wilson, New York kinesiologist, however, is able to see the aesthetic side of things, and she has found that most legs can be made over with exercise.

There are, as you might suppose, exceptions. Bone deformities, and rachitic conditions are problems for the orthopedist. Thickness of the ankle due to heavy bony structure cannot be changed. But often these apparent deformities are the result of weakness of muscles and can be corrected by strengthening the muscles. For example, the effect of knock knees is given by hollow thighs, and hollowness of the thighs is caused by weakness of the muscles along the inner thigh line. Special exercises fill out this ugly hollow and make the legs appear straight.

If the knees interfere with each other, are knotted or bunched, or the legs are shapeless and heavy from knee to heel, the legs should be first tested for general strength.

Take these tests suggested by Miss Bowman-Wilson: (1) Stand on the toes on the inner borders of the feet, muscles of heels, calves and knees contracted. Try to hold the position for 30 seconds. Are the knees straight and well pulled back? (2) Now stand flat with the legs in the same position as on the toes. Tip the entire body upward by rising on the heels. The toes should be several inches from the floor. Are those tests easy for you? If not, you need specific exercises for the leg muscles, and Miss Bowman-Wilson suggests the following routine.

1. Calf Stretch—Stand arm's length from the wall, palms of hands against wall, shoulder level. Have feet flat and parallel, weight on outer borders. The entire body is held straight. Move the feet back, ward, keeping them parallel and flat on the floor, until tension is felt in the calf. Then bend the elbows and without bending the knees, lean forward against the wall. Do not raise the feet off the floor. The aim is to hold this position for a full minute. Repeat from five to ten times daily.

2. The "V"—for hollow thighs: Lie on back, arms overhead on floor and parallel. Bend the knees until they are perpendicular to the trunk. Have the heels on the floor, but point the toes away from the floor. Holding this position, spread the legs as wide apart as possible, then bring them together again. Repeat six times, later 15. Now, straighten the knees, have the feet off floor, and perform the same movement. If you want dimples in your knees, practice this one: Extend the knees, then bend to chest. Begin with 10 counts, increasing to 30. Also, practice holding the extended position until you can maintain it for a full minute.

3. For thick ankles: When you are able to hold the extended position in the knee dimpler for a full minute, move the feet backward and forward from the ankles. Bring the feet forward until the toes curl up toward the instep, and hold for a second. Then point the toes, and hold for a second. Be sure that the movement is only in the ankles. Have feet side by side and off the floor. Do not bend the knees. Gradually work up to 30 times.

Follow all toe work with the calf stretch. If you are really serious about your legs, you can do no better than to follow Wanda Bowman-Wilson's program. For variety's sake, also practice the "Leg Normalizing Exercises," available in leaflet form.

Springtime—"new clothes" time! Plan a dashing wardrobe now—

Hollywood Today

By SHEILAH GRAHAM.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14.—Dear diary... Friday... The theater-starved glamor boys and girls of the screen flock to the coast premiere of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" opera. Marlene Dietrich signs her autograph for a fan who states he has come all the way from Arizona for just that. At the same time, escort Douglas Fairbanks Jr., says "Hello" to a yacht club boy. "I just got back from New York," says the latter. "How was it, cold?" queries Fairbanks. "I should say," replies the nautical gentleman, "on the outside." "But you were on the inside, eh?" says Doug. And laughs heartily. "Come, Douglas," commands Marlene. The pair stroll into the theater... Overheard in the crowd, Robert Young to a beautiful young lady, "You mean you really beat him? Say, that's pretty good!"... Pat Di Cicco, with lovely Florence Rice on his arm—"Have you heard about the maid Florence has? She was in the diplomatic service at one time."... John Barrymore alone during the intermission. His Elaine, in a huge red fox cape and orange lipstick, remains with her mother, indulging in cultural conversation... Joan Crawford would like to stoll about, but the gapers scare her. Others who stay in the comparative safety of their seats—Deanna Durbin, Edna May Oliver, Robert Taylor (where was Miss Stanwyck?), Franchot Tone, Charles Boyer and his Pat.

Saturday... The rain takes a holiday, and sun-flooded Santa Anita race track looks beautiful against the brown-gray mountains and deep blue sky. The usual track fans are present—Millionaire Louis B. Mayer, who wins himself a pocket of money; George Jessel, who loses ditto; the Whitties—Sonny and Jack—Alfred Vanderbilt, Bing Crosby and the Senior Fairbanks with his too-slender bride... Charlie Butterworth plays the horses from the clubhouse restaurant... Pat O'Brien spends the afternoon on the clubhouse stairway... Judging by the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ameche when they leave the track, horse racing—and betting—is highly overrated.

Sunday... If I were a film-struck girl trying to make the grade, I would go to the Trocadero every Sunday evening. "Everyone"—in its broader sense—is here—plump film moguls Joe Schenck (Twentieth Century-Fox), Charlie Rogers (Universal), and Harry Cohn (Columbia), discuss the subjects nearest their hearts (the grosses of their latest super-colossal pictures)... Herbert Marshall is gently courteous to favored friend Lee Russell... The radio comics in full force, as usual—Burns and Allen, Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny, Mary Livingstone, the Don Ameches—and, of course, a couple of the Ritz Brothers.

Monday... The star attraction—on the screen and in the audience—at Paramount's "Big Broadcast of 1938" preview is W. C. Fields. Bill is minus his cane and the before-going-on-the-wagon nose redness. "They shouldn't let me see my pictures," mutters Fields uneasily. "I'm super-hypercritical."

Tuesday... John Ford gives a birthday party for himself on a Twentieth Century-Fox sound stage. A policeman guards the door. Production of Mr. Ford's latest film, "Four Men and a Prayer," is held up one whole hour while the director's guests sing "Happy Birthday, Dear Johnny—Happy Birthday to You."

Wednesday... At "The Barons and the Butlers" preview, starring William Powell and Anna Bella... Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks Sr., is hand-kissed by three gentlemen (excluding husband)... Brainworker Joe Schenck escorts Lady Castlesore and remarks during the newsreel scene of singing cotton-pickers, "People are happiest when they work with their hands—not brains."

Thursday... David Selznick hits another bull's-eye with "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Applauding the fine performances of little Tom Kelly and Ann Gillis is Deanna Durbin, escorted by her first publicity romance, Jackie Moran (Huckleberry Finn); Janet Gaynor with adoring Tyrone Power, and several hundred more celebrities, including Paulette Goddard (again minus Chaplin), in an ankle-length silver fox cape. Publicity showing Paulette grab attention in the lobby, curtsying deeply to new boss Selznick, murmuring, "Good evening, sir."

Friday... The birthday of George Washington and Frank L. Stanton will be celebrated in song and story at the ninth anniversary meeting of Atkins Park Garden Club which will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred M. Bell and Mrs. L. J. Bell, 1092 St. Charles place, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Co-hosts will be Mrs. Ray W. W. Kerson, Mrs. Alice Cooper and Mrs. James Cotsakis.

Mrs. Ray M. Wilkerson, president, will preside at the business session, after which Mrs. John P. Stewart, one of Atlanta accredited flower show judges, will speak on small gardens and house seed planting. Mrs. George Cotakis will sing, accompanied by Miss Margaret Hecht.

Four years ago I met the only boy I have ever loved. We went together for a year and then he asked me to marry him which for two reasons I didn't do. I had to support my mother and thought that was my first duty. Then, too, he drank and while he made me all sorts of promises, I was afraid he couldn't keep them. Three years have passed and I have tried my best to forget him but in spite of dates with others I haven't made the grade. I want him back, faults and all. I know three years is long enough to test my own feelings. Won't you tell me if you think it would be foolish to write him the truth? B. B.

ANSWER:
By all means write to your old flame but don't put all the facts on the line in the first letter. There's a possibility that he may be tied up with another girl. There's a possibility that you have been idealizing him and idolizing your idea and that when he comes in the flesh, you will be disappointed. When you have lured him back with a warm, friendly letter there will be time enough to put the old love scenes in rehearsal.

We women are funny about our first loves, particularly when they are out of sight. The man on the ground exposes his clay feet (they all have clay feet) and we sigh and say, "Number one didn't have 'em." All the while we are forgetting everything that wasn't pleasant in the first love affair, remembering only the thrills. So watch your step, sister.

No doubt many a girl experiences a great love that transcends all others yet, not realizing it at the time, lets it slip between her fingers. Once the realization comes she certainly should do all in her power to pick up the threads and reweave her romance.

membering only the thrills. So watch your step, sister.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

My chums are popular with the boys, which makes it worse for me that I have never had a date. I am not shy with girls, they all like me, but just let a boy say one word to me and my tongue freezes to the roof of my mouth. Can't you, please, help an unhappy girl?

SEVENTEEN.

ANSWER:
Why not put your pride in your pocket and persuade your chums to run you in on some double dates? This will break the ice and give you a glimpse of the way they handle their boy friends. Just a few dates will bring you out of your frenzy of fear and then you can have a little party at your home for the crowd you've been running with. The best way to overcome fear of people or situations is to dive in and see for yourself that there's nothing to be afraid of and it's equally true of a dark room and a blind date.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

A QUART OF MILK A DAY—2.
The protein (nitrogenous, curd, cheese) part of milk is of the highest biological quality, having the assortment of amino-acids whose efficiency in promoting growth is unexcelled, and being the most completely digested and absorbed of all food proteins.

Ten years ago the department of health for Scotland studied 12,000 school children. They received milk daily at school to supplement their ordinary diet, and 12,000 school children who did not receive the extra milk at school. The final conclusion drawn from this extensive test was that the results demonstrate that the addition of milk to the diet of children has a striking effect in improving physique and general health and increasing alertness. They suggest also that, apart from its own food value, milk enables the other constituents of the ordinary diet to be fully utilized as growth factors.

In the final weeks of the test head teachers of the various schools were asked to submit their impressions of the effects of the extra ration (about 3-4 of a pint) of milk daily at school. They mentioned among other things "an increase in the bloom of their cheeks and the sleekness of their skins" and even "in the playground buoyancy and pugacity are developing to an alarming extent." The physician who observed the test concluded:

"... starting to learn, as we do now, for instance, that the addition of one pint of milk a day to a diet which by itself satisfied the appetite of growing boys, could convert an average annual gain of weight of 3.85 pounds per boy into one of 6.98 pounds, and an average annual increase of height from 1.84 inches to 2.63 inches."

At the same time they point out that this unmistakable betterment in nutrition was proved by the actual test to be due not to the relatively small increase in the fuel value of the diet, nor to the extra protein supplied by the milk, but rather to "more specific qualities of milk as a food."

I, O' Doc Brady, believe these "more specific qualities" are nothing else than our old friends the vitamins in milk.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Charcoal Absorbs Odors.

Will a piece of fresh charcoal absorb odors if placed in a refrigerator? Will it neutralize odors of cooked cabbage, melon, etc., or just mask them? (W. E. S.)

Answer:—Fresh charcoal, that has been recently burned or heated in the air or in steam and so "activated" absorbs various gases, odorous or not. It does not neutralize them. It must be reactivated or replaced with fresh charcoal every few days, for the best results.

Habit Broken.

We sent for your booklet, "The Constipation Habit," some months ago. Of the four members in our family, not one has used any sort of physic or other "aid" for more than two months now. We are grateful to you for this and for many other valuable things we have learned from "O' Doc Brady." (C. L.)

Answer:—That's all right as long as you enunciate the Doc distinctly—so people won't think you're saying Quack. Glad to mail the booklet. To a victim who asks for it and incloses ten cents in coin and a three-cent stamped envelope bearing his address.

Milk and Hay Fever.

Does milk confer any degree of immunity against hay fever? Have been drinking one to two quarts a day for many years, but have suffered with hay fever for 12 years. Inoculation in the past eight years gave me about 80 per cent im-

THREE JACKETS RECEIVE HURTS IN ROUGH DRILL

Page, Cheek, Seay Increase Injury List to Six.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.
Three men were injured yesterday in spring training at Georgia Tech as Coach W. A. Alexander sent his men through the first real rough work of the 1938 practice session.

With the injuring of the men yesterday, the casualty list at Tech mounted to six—most of them backfield men.

Those hurt yesterday were: Junios Page, two-back candidate, who will be out for a couple of weeks with a sprained ankle.

Cheek, sophomore three-back, out because of shoulder dislocation, suffered in tackling scrimmage.

Seay, who also was knocked out in tackling practice.

Others on the injured list are: Neal Cavette, sophomore blocking back, who underwent a knee operation last Friday and will be lost for the full spring practice session.

KNEE OPERATION.
Buck Murphy, blocking back, who is recovering from a knee operation. Also lost for the spring period.

Bobby Beers, tail back, who was advised by doctors to leave off football for the spring because of the slow healing of his knee, which was recently operated on.

With the loss of so many backfield men, Bobby Dodd and Coach Alex are faced with the difficulty of working with patched-up backfields.

Coach Alex sent his men through the first real rough work of the spring practice drills yesterday.

The tackles and ends were blocking and tackling one another, while the backs, under the direction of Dodd, spent their afternoon passing and tackling.

HURT TACKLING.
All of the injuries of yesterday were sustained while the tackling drills were going on.

Page and Murphy are the only injured members of the team who could be called regulars, but big things are expected of Cavette, Beers and Cheek.

Cavette and Cheek are sophomores and, no doubt, the loss of the spring instruction will not do them any too much good when next September rolls around.

Coach Alexander has been working hard with the ends in an effort to replace his regulars lost by graduation. This appears to be the hardest task of the coaches.

Alex won't say which of the 15 candidates for the flank positions are looking best in the early drills, saying "wait until after a few scrimmages and I can tell you better."

He has set the first scrimmage for Saturday.

125 TRACK MEN REPORT AT TECH

One hundred and twenty-five candidates for the Georgia Tech varsity and freshman track teams reported to Coaches George Griffin and Norris Dean yesterday for the first practice of the year.

Among the stars returning from last year's team are Chick Albrecht, ace distance runner, Dutch Koenemann and Tom Jones, dash men, and Charlie Belcher and Staples, quarter-milers.

Prospects for the freshman team are bright, Coach Griffin said, but the strength of his varsity won't be known until after five football men report for practice.

The five gridirers, counted on for much help this year, are Woods, Beers, Beards, Estes and Couston, all weight men.

A captain for the 1938 squad has not been elected as yet, Griffin said. Also, the schedule is not quite complete but will be released within the next few days.

New Zealand Quits Cup Play for 1938

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The New Zealand Lawn Tennis Association announced today New Zealand has withdrawn from this year's Davis cup competition because Alan C. Stedman, star doubles player, will be unable to participate.

Stedman has accepted a business appointment in Auckland which will prevent him from going abroad. He has played on several New Zealand teams in recent years.

BREAK O' DAY

Son May Outdo Father in the Case Of 'Little Sarge' Bagby

(Editor's note: Break o' Day is written today by Jack Troy, acting sports editor of The Constitution, pinch-hitting for Ralph McGill.)

Rare, indeed, is the son who can emulate the father in baseball.

Few cases are recorded where a youngster followed his dad in the major leagues and made good. They, somehow, seem to be playing simply because the father wants them to. Or else they start under a mental handicap they never are able to surmount.

JIM BAGBY JR.

they failed to go over the top. Greats have fired and fallen back.

Rare, then, is the hope held for the future of Jim Bagby Jr., son of Sergeant Jim, an ace with Cleveland a score of years ago. One year—1920—Old Sarge won 31 games.

Young Jim had a great year with Hazelton in 1937, winning 20 games and losing eight. He was voted the most valuable player award in the New York-Penn league.

It was only last year that "Little Sarge," after barging around from Charlotte, to Rocky Mount, to Little Rock and then to Hazelton, came into his own. And it was not on his pitching alone that he got the award.

He batted around .350 and once when one of Hazelton's outfielders was in a slump, young Bagby filled in splendidly. His spirit, temperament and willingness to learn, coupled with his physique, make observers feel certain that either this year or next he will land on the big league scene with a bang.

The Boston Red Sox bought him at the end of last season and he is to report to the Flaming Hose this spring.

GREATER THAN OLD SARGE?

Mike McNally, veteran manager of Wilkes-Barre, thinks young Bagby will approach or eclipse the feats of his dad in baseball.

McNally's observations are interesting: "This Bagby doesn't pitch like his father," McNally explains. "He is very fast and has a good curve and better control than most kids. His father pitched more with his head than with his arm. He had a good screw ball and curve, excellent control and a pitching noodle that made him one of the best pitchers in Cleveland's history."

"But young Jim has better physical equipment. He is well built and stands about six feet two. His speed is a great asset. I do not think he is as fast as Grove used to be, but he has more speed than the average big league pitcher. And he is only 21."

"There's another thing about Bagby that makes me think he can't miss being a real big leaguer this year or next. He has a wonderful competitive spirit. You generally don't find that in sons of old ball players. More often the son is lethargic in his baseball relations. He plays ball only because his father wants him to do so."

"I could see this spirit in everything he did on the field. He looked natural practicing around the infield or shagging flies. He was a natural at the plate. I think he hit around .350 and once, when one of Hazelton's regular outfielders was in a slump, he filled in creditably."

"Jim also was a willing student. He is one kid who is ready to pick up something new any time, and work on it until he has either mastered it or feels that to continue experimenting with it only would be a waste of time. It was this heads-up eagerness in the boy that made him the most valuable player," McNally concluded.

"Little Sarge" has been in organized baseball since 1935, when he graduated from Boys' High school here. He broke in with Charlotte, where he was given some valuable pointers by Herb Pennock. He was with Rocky Mount in 1936 and was sold at the end of the season to Little Rock. The Pebbles optioned him to Hazelton. Then was recalled and purchased by the Red Sox, who have a working agreement with Little Rock.

It may be that if Jim Jr. needs one more year of minor league experience, Little Rock may avail itself of his services this summer. Chances are, however, that he is with the Red Sox to stay for a while.

SMITHIES JINXED HIM.

Young Bagby never defeated Tech High in his prep career. The Smithies had the Indian sign on him. And in years to come, when the son of Old Sarge is blazing a new trail of victories, the youngsters out at Tech High can point with pride to the fact that "he never beat us."

Another son of an old big leaguer, teammate of Bagby, did beat the Smithies, however. Young Bob Smith turned the trick.

Jim Bagby Jr., in addition to his pitching, has ambitions to become a sports cartoonist. He has a definite talent along these

JACKET CAGERS BREAK AUBURN'S WINNING STREAK

Tech Scores One-Point Victory; Morgan Has 19 Points.

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Georgia Tech's basketball team ended Auburn's victory streak of 12 games here tonight with a thrilling 43-42 triumph.

The Plainsmen, undefeated in five Southeastern conference games, went ahead early in the second half after trailing 26-24 at halftime. The Jackets surged back, however, came even and then went ahead by a narrow margin. The score was tied 10 times during the first half and twice in the second.

Each team used only five starting players. Jones with 14 points and Johnston with 12 led the Jacket offense, but Auburn's Malvern Morgan took individual honors with 19 points. Holmes had 13 for Auburn.

THE BOX SCORE:
TECH (43)—Jordan, F., 7; Jones, F., 14; Johnston, C., 12; Sims, G., 3; Anderson, G., 2. Totals 20 3 43.
AUBURN (42)—Morgan, F., 19; Holmes, F., 13; Edwards, C., 8; McKissick, G., 1; Gibson, G., 1. Totals 20 2 42.

Halftime score: Georgia Tech 20, Auburn 24.
Personal fouls: Tech, Jordan, Jones, Johnston, Anderson 3; Auburn, Morgan, Holmes 2, Edwards, McKissick, Gibson. Referee: Malcolm Laney (Alabama).

CHANDLER, DUKE ARE COUNTED ON

Major Clubs, Awed at Bees' Success, Give 'Old-Timers' Chance.

By PAUL MICKELSON.
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—If Uncle Bob Quinn, grand keeper of the Boston Bees, didn't receive a carload of valentines from the old people's homes around the land, it's rank ingratitude. Uncle Bob has done more to keep ball players out of rocking chairs than any big league nabe. Besides, he's a Valentine's Day baby, celebrating his 68th birthday today.

Uncle Bob scored his greatest triumph with his old folks recruits last year when he brought up a pair of 30-year-old pitching wonders, Lou Fette and Jim Turner, who lifted the Bees close to first division in 20 victories apiece. The effect of his magic can be seen on the 1938 rosters. There are more than a score of rookies, 27 years or older, out to do a Turner or Fette in the big show this year.

JOHN NIGGELING.
This year's Quinn presentation will be John Niggeling, a six-foot right-hander who will reach the soft boiled eggs and buttered toast stage of 33 years come July 10. Mr. Niggeling has been banging at the door of fame for quite a spell now but his work at Kansas City and Newark last year was just good enough to impress Uncle Bob even though his total was only 9 won and 14 lost. Some American Association folks say Mr. Niggeling has got just the brand of old stuff to fool the National leaguers.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn, long admirers of Quinn's old man magic, have gone in for a flock of older rookies. Pitcher Charlie Morrow, up from Louisville, is 29, as is Pitcher Bill Posedel, recruit from Portland. A third Brooklyn "rookie" is 38-year-old Kiki Cuyler, whom the Reds rated as too old for further use. Cincinnati's oldest rookie is Pitcher Ted Kleinham, a 33-year hand who's been coming up and going down. The Reds also picked up Minneapoli's 31, and 27-year-old Catcher Willard Hershberger from Newark.

GIANTS HAVE TWO.
The New York Giants have two rookies aged 27. Pitcher Hal Vandenberg from Baltimore and Outfielder Leslie Horn, of Albany. The Chicago Cubs are giving try-outs to Pitcher Bob Logan, a 28-year-old Detroit cast-off, and 34-year-old Carl Reynolds, who started a big league comeback via Minneapolis late last year.

Two 29-year-old pitching rookies—Marvin Duke, of Seneca, Ga., from Montreal, and Bob Klingler, of Sacramento—are Pittsburgh hopefuls. Although the St. Louis Cardinals go in for fresh, young farm stock they have a few over the 25-year mark, including 29-year-old Art Garibaldi, an infielder from Sacramento. The Philadelphia Phillies, who run strictly to future farm for the big league auction sales, haven't any real old-timers among their rookies.

The Yankees, hard up for throwers, are pinning some heavy hopes on 28-year-old Spurgeon Chandler, who was with them a spell last season before he was shipped to Newark, and 27-year-old Steve Sundra. Connie Mack, baseball's old man of the mountains doesn't go in very heavy for older recruits, but he's coming up with Paul Easterling, who's a mashie shot from 30, as an outfield candidate. Detroit has two 27-year-old pitching rookies in Alton Benton and Pat McLaulin. At 28, Outfielder Rupert Thompson is up from San Diego for another big league try with the Chicago White Sox. A 29-year-old flinger, Leonard of Atlanta, will try out with Washington.

No Use Waiting for It—This One Dropped In

A long shot by Hugh Luby, Warren guard, was good as this action was made at last night's Warren-J. P. C. game which the latter won, 37-29. Rival players are shown waiting for the rebound, but it was no use in this instance. Under the basket are Steve Browdy (14), J. P. C. center, and Ed Copeland, Warren center. No. 12 is "Happy" Ginsberg, J. P. C. forward. Speaking of rebounds, J. P. C. got 'em last night.

FRANK JOHNSON MEHRE'S CHOICE

Mississippi Assistants Will Be Selected Today.

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Harry Mehre, athletic director and head football coach at the University of Mississippi, said tonight he would recommend to the athletic council tomorrow the appointment of Frank Johnson, former Georgia star, as the Rebels' line coach.

The announcement followed a conference here today attended by Mehre, Johnson, "Happy" Campbell, of the University of Alabama, who is under consideration as backfield coach, and school authorities.

"I will recommend the appointment of Johnson," Mehre said. "No definite decision was reached at the conference today regarding selection of a backfield coach, but I think it probably will be settled by tomorrow night."

Pairings Announced In DeKalb Tourney

Opening games in the DeKalb county basketball tournament will be played tomorrow night on the new gymnasium at DeKalb High school.

The drawings are as follows:
WEDNESDAY SCHEDULE:
6:30—Tucker vs. Snellville (girls).
7:30—Avondale vs. Southwest DeKalb (girls).
8:30—Clarkston vs. Snellville (boys).
9:30—Tucker vs. Avondale (boys).
THURSDAY SCHEDULE:
6:30—Lithonia vs. Clarkston (girls).
7:30—Chamblee vs. Stone Mountain (girls).
8:30—Chamblee vs. Southwest DeKalb (boys).
9:30—Stone Mountain vs. Lithonia (boys).

MEHRE AIDE?

If Tilden (Happy) Campbell does not join Harry J. Mehre at Mississippi it will be because the Oxford school can not pay him as much as he is already making as an assistant under Frank Thomas.

Earl Mann Returns From Florida Trip

Earl Mann, doughty Cracker president, returned yesterday from a short vacation in Florida.

"No, the big ones didn't get away," he said. "I wish they had. I didn't catch anything but a few toadfish," he pointed out.

Mann said he hoped to get something done about those Cracker contracts right away. None of the regulars excepting, of course, Manager Paul Richards, have signed as yet.

PROGRESSIVE 'S' PLAYS SUPERBLY TO OUTCLASS FOE

Browdy Scores 15 Points; Moore Limited to Four by Greenberg.

By JACK TROY.

The Jewish Progressive Club's whirling dervishes of the hard-work played rings around Warren's southern champions last night to win, 37 to 29, and even the series at one victory apiece.

Superior in all departments of play, the Progressives held an ample lead of 20 to 12 at the half—it might have been 10 points more—and only at one stage midway of the second half were they ever hard pressed. That was when Ed Copeland, Hugh Luby and Gene Warlick connected for a series of quick baskets to draw Warren up to within six points of the lead.

The Progressives quickly steadied and pulled away again. They were superior from then until the end.

LIKE A PRO TEAM.

Shep Lauter's club displayed pass-work suggestive of a pro troupe like the Celtics and hawked the ball in rare fashion. They got the ball on rebound most of the night and generally outplayed last year's champions.

It was a game in which the score was not indicative, at all, of the difference between the teams.

As far as individual heroes go, one might well list the club team as a whole. And yet, there was Steve Browdy's goal shooting—he led with 15 points—and Gabby Greenberg's defensive work, and Morris Katz's general floor play.

Greenberg was assigned to Virlyn Moore, ace sharpshooter of Warren, and limited him to 4 points. Moore made one field goal. He never fought any harder in his life, but Greenberg was a leach.

BROWDY EXCELS.

Browdy's fine play wasn't limited to goal shooting. He figured in the stellar club defense and played a neat floor game as well.

Happy Ginsberg and steady Pony Minsk played brilliant ball, too. The Progressives, as a team, were right. And there was no difference whatsoever in the team work when Emanuel Kulbersh and Barney Medwitz were in the game.

Ed Copeland shot the most points for Warren—nine. And the only time Warren seemed to make much progress in getting the ball on rebound was when Red Bellamy was in the game.

The game was nip-and-tuck for the first five minutes. Katz and Browdy were largely instrumental in sending the club ahead and giving them a large lead at the half. In the second half, Browdy, Ginsberg, Katz and Minsk supplied the points to keep them ahead.

IN TOURNAMENT.

Both Warren and the Progressive Club are entered in the southern tournament this week, and

'Riggs Is Best on Clay' Grant

BITSY SAYS BOB WILL BE AT TOP IN SHORT TIME

Atlanta Atom Highly Impressed With Development of Bobbitt.

By JACK TROY.
Bryan Grant, who is pursuing his line of work as an insurance salesman between tennis tournaments, said yesterday it would not surprise him if "Bobby Riggs is the boy in international tennis this year."

"Riggs has everything and it he had a chance to meet Don Budge on dirt now he would beat him. I don't know how they would compare on turf now, because of Budge's power, but I believe Riggs will be the top player in the long run."

"I don't think Budge will benefit by the Australian trip. It's bound to be a bit wearing. Riggs never seems to get stale, and when the tournaments on grass come around, he is going to be tough to beat."

"I WAS LUCKY."
"I guess I was pretty lucky to beat him in the only match he has lost this season."

Grant went on to say that Riggs is the greatest clay courts player he has met in the last five years. "In addition to his ability to cover court, he is a very smart court general."

Riggs is due to appear in Atlanta either in March or April. The Atlanta Lawn Tennis Association will have the annual invitational tournament in April and he is expected to participate, along with Grant.

A round-robin tournament also is tentatively scheduled for March and he may be here then, too.

FRANKS BOBBITT.
Grant is highly impressed by the development of Russell Bobbitt, now a student at Georgia Tech.

"Bobbitt probably is the most improved player in Atlanta. His volleying is much better and he has improved about 25 per cent on his ground strokes."

"All he needs is a summer's campaign in the big tournaments. With that experience, he'll be big time material. He's planning to compete in the tournaments when school ends, I understand."

Grant, Malon Courts, Red Enloe, Bobbitt, J. T. Chambers and Dr. Kels Boland have been taking advantage of the warm weather to hold some hot doubles matches at the Piedmont Driving Club.

chances are they'll meet again. It should be quite a ball game. Warren won the first game by a margin of four points and J. P. C. doubled that margin in winning last night and, as aforementioned, deserved to win by a larger score.

It looked a bit like baseball season at one stage in the early part of the game when Hugh Luby engaged Claud Bond on a little matter of personal fouls.

Warren Reds and J. P. C. Cubs battled in a preliminary game, with the Reds winning, 44 to 29. A brief flurry of fists featured at a time-out period, Sonny Kuniak and Cecil (Harvest) Moon going to the floor in an unscheduled exhibition. They were separated by players, spectators and policemen and the game continued on its merry way.

Commodore Cagers Beat Florida, 59-24

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 14.—(P)—Captain Ed Hunter paced a red-hot Vanderbilt University basketball team to a crushing 59-to-24 cage victory tonight over the University of Florida in a South-eastern conference game.

The lanky forward, hitting his offensive peak of the season, rang the bucket for an even dozen field goals and one foul shot for a grand total of 25 points.

Florida never was in the ball game, trailing from the outset behind the accuracy and ball-hawking tactics of the Commodores.

League Headquarters Will Stay in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 14.—(P)—Major Trammell Scott, newly elected president of the Southern association, conferred today with Judge John D. Martin, former president and now chairman of the board of league directors, and announced that the league headquarters would remain in Memphis.

Major Scott said all league business would be handled here, although his personal headquarters would be at Atlanta.

He revealed that no contracts have been sent to umpires, but that probably all but Eddie Almsmith would resume their Southern league duties.

Almsmith recently signed a contract for the International league. "I've never seen the umpires work," said the Major, "it would hardly be fair to judge them too quickly. I'm going to look at them through the president's eyes and they'll be critical eyes, too."

Rickey-Terry Talk Concerns Mancuso

No Deal Completed; "Terrible Terry" Refuses To Comment on Nature of Confab.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14.—(P)—Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, said his conference today with Branch Rickey, of the St. Louis Cardinals, especially concerned Gus Mancuso, his veteran catcher.

Terry said he planned to make Harry Danning his first-string receiver and Mancuso had indicated he would not be satisfied with being second choice.

"Mancuso would make an excellent addition to a club with young pitchers," said Terry before he departed for his home in Memphis. Terry said, however, no deal had been completed with the Cardinals.

Immediately after the close of his four-hour conference with the vice president and general manager of the Red Birds, Terry declined to comment on the nature of the conversations.

A round-robin tournament also is tentatively scheduled for March and he may be here then, too.

FRANKS BOBBITT.
Grant is highly impressed by the development of Russell Bobbitt, now a student at Georgia Tech.

"Bobbitt probably is the most improved player in Atlanta. His volleying is much better and he has improved about 25 per cent on his ground strokes."

"All he needs is a summer's campaign in the big tournaments. With that experience, he'll be big time material. He's planning to compete in the tournaments when school ends, I understand."

Grant, Malon Courts, Red Enloe, Bobbitt, J. T. Chambers and Dr. Kels Boland have been taking advantage of the warm weather to hold some hot doubles matches at the Piedmont Driving Club.

J. P. C. CAGEMEN BEAT WARREN, 37-29

chances are they'll meet again. It should be quite a ball game. Warren won the first game by a margin of four points and J. P. C. doubled that margin in winning last night and, as aforementioned, deserved to win by a larger score.

It looked a bit like baseball season at one stage in the early part of the game when Hugh Luby engaged Claud Bond on a little matter of personal fouls.

Warren Reds and J. P. C. Cubs battled in a preliminary game, with the Reds winning, 44 to 29. A brief flurry of fists featured at a time-out period, Sonny Kuniak and Cecil (Harvest) Moon going to the floor in an unscheduled exhibition. They were separated by players, spectators and policemen and the game continued on its merry way.

Commodore Cagers Beat Florida, 59-24

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 14.—(P)—Captain Ed Hunter paced a red-hot Vanderbilt University basketball team to a crushing 59-to-24 cage victory tonight over the University of Florida in a South-eastern conference game.

The lanky forward, hitting his offensive peak of the season, rang the bucket for an even dozen field goals and one foul shot for a grand total of 25 points.

Florida never was in the ball game, trailing from the outset behind the accuracy and ball-hawking tactics of the Commodores.

DICKEY, DONALD AND HOAG SIGN NEW CONTRACTS

Gehrig, DiMag, Ruffing, Gomez Still Among Holdouts, However.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(P)—The Yankees' holdout problem was eased considerably today with receipt of the signed contracts of Catcher Bill Dickey, Outfielder Myril Hoag and Rookie Pitcher Atley Donald.

"They all get on the line sooner or later," Beamed Manager Joe McCarthy, who was visiting headquarters. "The club has always been more than fair with its players."

Both Dickey and Hoag fired their original contracts back and were believed to have received slight boosts. Donald, who won 19 and lost 2 in New York last season, didn't argue.

Dickey's signature assures the champions a fine catching staff. Now all they need is to come to terms with their two best pitchers, Gomez and Ruffing; their infield, excepting the rookie and veteran, Joe Gordon, and two outfielders, Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich.

McCarthy has a luncheon engagement tomorrow with Lou Gehrig, and it wouldn't be surprising if he induced his star first baseman to join the fold at the salary offered him by Colonel Ruppert, $36,000, plus a bonus of $1,000 out of the brewer's own pocket.

"Nobody will be permitted to work out at St. Petersburg until they have signed," McCarthy said.

Rollie Hemsley Signs Cleveland Contract.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14.—(P)—Frank Kohlbecker, secretary of the Cleveland Indians' baseball club, announced today that Rollie Hemsley, catcher, acquired by the Indians last week in a trade with St. Louis, has accepted his 1938 contract. Kohlbecker said Hemsley has sent his acceptance to Vice President C. C. Slapnicka, who is in Florida.

Ed Linke Signs Brown Contract.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14.—(P)—The signed contract for the 1938 season of Pitcher Ed Linke, right-hander obtained from Washington, was received today by the St. Louis Browns. Terms of the agreement were not divulged. Linke, who won six and lost one for the Senators last year, was traded even for Elton (Chief) Hogsett.

Miley and Solomon Orlando Favorites

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 14.—(P)—Marion Miley, of Fort Pierce, and Mrs. Leon Solomon, of Memphis, Tenn., will see off as ranking players here tomorrow in the qualifying round of the Mid-Florida women's golf tournament.

They will play without handicaps, but Mrs. Lillian Zech, Chicago district champion, had a three-stroke advantage and Mrs. Estella Drennon, Oklahoma state titleholder, had a two-stroke lead.

Match play will begin Wednesday and the finals will be played Saturday.

Tigers' Success Hinges On Rowe-Lawson.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 14.—(P)—Roxie Lawson, the Detroit Tigers' leading pitcher last year, predicted today that if Lynwood Rowe, successfully overcomes his arm ailment "we will go to town" this season.

"We finished second to the Yankees last year," said Lawson, who came here from his Iowa farm for a two-week stay, "despite injuries to Rowe and Manager Cochrane, the Yankees, on the other hand, have been riding along for several years without a serious injury."

Helen Hicks Weds Auto Dealer Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(P)—A golf course romance will result tomorrow in the marriage of 27-year-old Helen Hicks, former national champion and lately a touring professional golfer, and Lynwood Rowe, 44, an automobile dealer from Little Rock, Ark.

The ceremony will be in the Episcopal Cathedral of the Incarnation at Garden City, Long Island. They will live in Little Rock.

Warren, J.P.C. Quintets Favorites in Tourney

J. P. C., Warren, Gulf, Dixie and Reeder & McLaughery basketball teams today will taper off their drills in preparation for the southern invitational basketball tournament which opens Thursday night in the Warren arena.

Pairings for the tournament will be drawn up either this afternoon or Wednesday and announced Thursday morning. Five games will be played Thursday night in the first round.

Court fans will see one of the finest little courtmen in the south perform when the Greer, S. C., National Guards swing into action. He is Ted Cabiness, a small forward with dead eye for the rim.

In his last two games Cabiness has scored 76 points. Greer also has Bird Alexander, another high-point man, and Johnny Emery, who last year won a place on the All-Southern Textile tournament team at forward. Bill Dobson, ex-Clemson ace, and Fletcher Heath, ex-baseball player, complete the Greer lineup.

Teams will be here from South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Alabama in addition to the Georgia fives.

College stars will dot the lineups of every team in the tournament. Warren Company, defending champion, is a slight favorite with the Jewish Progressive Club sharing the spotlight.

Teams listed for action include: Warren Company, J. P. C., Gulf, Reeder & McLaughery and Dixie, all of Atlanta. Greer (S. C.), Gauleys, Southern Bleachery, of Telford, S. C., and southern textile champions, Nehi, of Columbus, Ga.; J. P. Peppers, of Lenoir City, Tenn.; Peerless Mills, of Rossville; Carter Shoe Company, of Nashville; and Kiwanis Club, of Norton, Va.

Players on the winning team will receive gold engraved basketballs. Silver balls will go to the runner-up. There is a trophy for high scorer and five trophies for the players selected on the all-tournament team by Atlanta sports writers.

HENRY FORD'S COUNSEL TO APPEAL CONVICTION

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Frederick Wood, counsel for Henry Ford, said today he would challenge in the United States circuit court of appeals constitutionality of the National Labor Relations Board's conviction of Ford on the grounds it denied him free speech. Wood, departing for New York, charged the board denied Ford the right to express his opinions in such a way as to influence the vote of workers in the choice of a union.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm. The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children. Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. Howard University Official Will Speak.
The 71st anniversary of the founding of Morehouse College will be observed Friday, with Edward Swain Hope, superintendent of grounds and buildings at Howard University, delivering the annual Founders' Day address at 8 o'clock that night.
The celebration will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning at chapel service in Sale hall. From 10:30 until 12 o'clock a regional meeting of the alumni in District No. 1 will be held. A basketball game between Morehouse and Fisk will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Decatur Couple Celebrate 60th Anniversary of Valentine Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Sullivan celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at a Valentine party yesterday. In the center is their daughter, Mrs. W. W. Kirkpatrick, the former Miss Lynn Sullivan, who celebrated her 25th wedding anniversary. She married on the same day of the month as her parents, February 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, of 324 Drexel avenue, Decatur, pictured in the costumes they wore after their marriage 60 years ago in Pleasant Hill, Mo. The bride before her marriage was Miss Lou Ella Blevans, of Pleasant Hill, and she became the Valentine bride of Mr. Sullivan of Shell City, Mo.

Decatur 'Girl' Gets 67th Valentine From Best Beau on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Sullivan Observe 60th Wedding Date With Daughter, Who Marks Her 25th; People Nowadays Forget How To Love, She Says.

By YOLANDE GWIN.
Sixty-seven years ago a young man in Pleasant Hill, Mo., asked a 13-year-old girl in pigtails and gingham to be his Valentine. Yesterday they celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary in a joint celebration with a daughter who observed her twenty-fifth wedding date.
The elders are Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Sullivan, of 324 Drexel avenue, Decatur. Their daughter, the former Lynn Sullivan, became the bride of W. W. Kirkpatrick in Atlanta in 1913. Yesterday the foursome, with members of the family friends gathered at the Sullivan home for the celebration.
Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan belle their respective ages of 82 and 80. They walk with a spirited step. They are full of pep and possess a splendid sense of humor. Both discuss modern topics with up-to-date interest, tempered by experience and knowledge of years.
Mrs. Sullivan before her marriage was Lou Ella Blevans, of Pleasant Hill, and it was when she attended Sunday school one morning that her future husband saw her for the first time. He said yesterday:
"I was a young blade in those days and was visiting in Pleasant Hill from Shell City, Mo. When I saw that girl I decided right then

Dear, Dear Deer! Two More Arrive

Caretakers at Grant Park zoo counted two more additions to the animal population yesterday. Two infant deer blinked at the bright sun and tried desperately to figure out Atlanta's spring-in-February weather. One was born Saturday, the other Sunday.
The new arrivals were not given a name, since the deer family is rather numerous and is not accustomed to such traditions, George I. Simons, city parks manager, said.

and there that I would marry her some day.
"Seven years later when she grew up I did, and we went on a wedding trip of one day and night. Our trip was to the next town, Sedalia, just 40 miles away.
"We went to housekeeping soon after we returned to Shell City. She has always been a good cook, but the first time she cooked breakfast for me she burned the biscuits—but that's typical of all brides, don't you think?"

Never Had Wave.
Mrs. Sullivan, with silver white hair, has never had a permanent wave, she says.
"I curl my hair myself. I would have bobbed my hair long ago, but my husband didn't want me to. I have always considered his wishes.

"And that's a good thing for young couples to think of and remember. If young couples would show more consideration for each other there would be fewer divorces. We have been sweethearts all our life. I think nowadays people just forget how to love."
Ten children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, five of whom survive. They are Mrs. Charles J. Turpie, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. W. W. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Victor Vail, Miss Virginia Sullivan, all of Decatur, and Meil W. Sullivan, of Jacksonville. They have 16 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

$30,000 LEASE SIGNED BY SERVICE WAREHOUSE

A six-year lease involving approximately $30,000 for a large commercial building at 376 Nelson street, S. W., was reported Monday by Harry Cowee, of the Adair Realty & Loan Company, realtors.
The property is owned by Mueller Company, of Decatur, Ill., and was leased by the Atlanta Service Warehouse, now on Spring street, of which Fred E. Stevens is owner.
The structure is of brick with a large floor on the sidewalk level and a big basement, giving approximately 25,000 square feet of space.
The new lessee will take possession of the property about March 1, after remodeling to suit the needs of the tenants.

'Deadline' Today For Licenses, Drivers Warned

Georgia automobile drivers were urged yesterday to obtain licenses before the "deadline" tonight to avoid the necessity of rigid examination and possible arrest for violation of the drivers' license act.
Commissioner of Public Safety Phil Brewster announced that there will be no further extension of the time for obtaining a driver's license.
"From time to time for various reasons we have had to postpone this deadline but drivers have had five months now to secure a license and we are forced to begin strict enforcement of this phase of the law immediately after February 15," Brewster said.
The bureau at Room 135 in the state capitol and the chauffeur's examination at 786 Confederate avenue will remain open tonight until 6 o'clock.

NEW EQUIPMENT BIDS TO BE OPENED MONDAY

Bids on new equipment for the police, fire and prison departments will be opened next Monday at 12:30 o'clock by the city purchasing committee. Lloyd Walker, purchasing agent, has asked for bids on 16 police cars, 20 new motor-cycles, and a three-fourths ton truck for the police department; a new automobile for the chief of the fire department, and a one-and-one-half-ton truck for the prison department.
The committee was scheduled to act on the bids yesterday, but the meeting was postponed a week because of the absence of several members.

2 men who deserve success will find their opportunity here!

The men we are looking for are not easy to find. They must be capable of success—able to keep in step with an organization that is going ahead. We want men of more than ordinary ability. We offer them a life career that brings more than ordinary rewards.

• Our business is good. It is expanding. We will add new men—when we find the type who meet our requirements. We don't want men who are out of jobs—we don't want failures. We do want men of ability and character whose present jobs offer no room to grow. These men are probably between 25 and 40 years of age . . . married. We will equip them, by thorough training, to serve as well as to sell. They can be confident of success.

• Perhaps you are wondering why we must look for men to fill these jobs. It isn't because we are limited in our field. It is because we will be satisfied only with men who measure up to our qualifications. If you measure up, and if you are interested in a permanent position, offering an income limited only by your ability write or phone to
